WE NOMINATE

Frederick Harris Harbison, one of the nation's top-notchers in the perplexities and complexities of industrial relations and a manpower expert whose studies of human resources have carried him to some 75 countries during the past decade. This week the 53-year old Harbison, probably the best-travelled member of the Princeton Community, was one of the five authorities asked in the after-glow, or hangover, of the calamitous transit strike by New York's Governor Rockefeller to "make recommendations for legislative proposals for protecting the public against the disruption of vital government services by illegal strikes while at the same time protecting the rights of public employees."

To this latest assignment in the public service, Harbison, Chairman of the New Jersey State Mediation Board, brings some 30 years of hard-nosed experience as educator, arbitrator and consultant in the field of industrial relations. In recent years, since succeeding Dean J. Douglas Brown as Director of Princeton University's Industrial Relations Section in 1955, Harbison and associates at other institutions, including M.I.T., Harvard, Chicago and California, have literally roamed the world in determining how countries, particularly the disadvantaged nations, might shape effective strategies for the development of their human resources.

Invariably outspoken, and ever-willing to "call the shots" as he sees them in both world and national affairs, Harbison a year or so ago made some American educators and planners blink in suggesting that the United States might be making a mistake in educating 75,000 foreign students on its collgee campuses. It was his thesis in part that "we should not attempt to compete with the Communist countries offering fellowships to students from the less developed countries. Let us attract," he proposed, "some of the best brains and let the Communists take care of the droves of second-raters who have no other place to go."

Pittsburgh-born and brother of the late E. Harris Harbison, the brilliant historian honored last week with The Danforth Foundation's establishment of distinguished teaching awards bearing his name, he was called back to Princeton from Chicago where he had taught since 1940 and had directed the Industrial Relations Section. Deeply interested in broadening the avenues of communication between education on the one hand and management, labor and government on the other, Harbison has been a top-level arbitrator in major industries, a consultant to the National Security Resources Board and the U. S. Department of Labor, and an adviser to The White House in shaping the Manpower Development Board.

Harbison, who during World War II filled a succession of key posts as consultant to government agencies, had made a name for himself by the time he had graduated from Princeton with the Class of 1934. A Phi Beta Kappa student, combining honors grades with track and the Triangle Club, he had written a senior thesis on a homestead development in Pennsylvania. This was used by his native Pittsburgh in seeking a $200,000 Federal appropriation. When the matter came before the appropriate Congressional Committee, the 22-year old senior took the stand and gave a convincing, hour-long address.

For constantly stressing that the progress of a nation depends first and foremost on the progress of its people; for his incisive analyses of some of the basic problems confronting underdeveloped areas of the world; for continuing to develop new ideas in the sphere of labor-management relations; he is our nominee as

PROFILE OF A YEAR

Double Chin? Princeton may well have a double chin and slight paunch because 1965 was another plump year, even plumper and more rosy-cheeked than 1964 so far as the economy is concerned.

TOWN TOPICS' quarterly Business Index (page 17) and the "Profile of a Year" chart show fat little plus marks all in vertical rows.

Some of them, of course, may not be "plus" to everybody who reads the charts. Housing starts in the Township, for example, spurted up 86% over last year and although this may contribute to an increase in Township ratables, it may also contribute to school board headache. Elsewhere in this issue, Dr. John McKenna, superintendent of Township schools, observes that the hoped-for leveling of the Township's school population simply didn't level.

A year ago, new housing was down in the Township by 35% from 1963, and building permits, the value of permits and property transfers were down, in both municipalities, although the Borough showed a slight dollar increase.

Today, the swing is back up again although the Borough's 14% increase in new housing over last year, is only one house!

Horsepower! New car sales are always watched carefully by national economists looking for prosperity trends, and the big year nationally in new car buying was reflected in Princeton's sales. In 1965, car dealers here sold 30% more new cars than they did in '64. That year, they were only 12% ahead of 1963.

Perhaps the most astounding leap for Princeton is the 37% increase in postal receipts. The year before, the post office only recorded 11% over 1963. More business firms using the Princeton post mark? Another argument for businessmen who says, "We need a new and bigger post office!"

The Christmas rush is represented by a 32% postal receipts jump from the summer quarter. This Christmas — or at least, this fall quarter — the post office was 17.7% ahead of the receipts of Christmas, 1964.

More on the Payroll. Princeton's big business firms, many of whom use that post office, recorded slight but across-the-board gains in staff, with more and more people needed to run the store.

RCA's employment figure is the same for 1965 as it was for 1964: 1,350 employees. The biggest boss of them all, Princeton University, climbed 385 from last year's figure to reach 3,850.

At ETS, the personnel file lists 900 regular employees, compared to 830 employed there in 1964. There were 500 temporary employees this past year, compared to the 430 who signed in during 1964.

McGraw Hill went up, too, reporting 1,900 employees compared to 1,700 in 1964. Western Electric added 12, for a 1965 total of 399; FMC added 12 for a 1965 total of 310; Socony-Mobil climbed seven to 140 and Union Bag hired six more, for a total of 80.

Princeton's economy depends on these employees. Ask any Princeton merchant. Ask the Borough about the steady climb of parking meter receipts, a fairly constant 7-9% each year. In 1965, parking pennies, nickels and dimes added up to 7% more than the year before. But 1964 brought in receipts 9% higher than '63. Who knows where that 2% went in 1965?

Motorists contributed to the Borough in other ways, too. Traffic Court raked in $77,502.50 during the past year, $4,000 more than the previous year. Even the "rural" Township recorded an increase: $5,822 to $6,792.

The Year of the Bear. But life was not all dollar signs in 1965, it has already been recorded in the Township as the year a citizen got bitten by a brown bear. (In the fire that damaged the pet shop; remember?)

Board of Health statistics also reveal that a hamster and a guinea pig both died of shock — or was it fright? — after biting their owners. There was also a monkey bite during that pet shop fire.

TEENAGE CLUB LIKELY? R. Donald Barr, Princeton Recreation Director, reports on such a possibility in Community Park. Story in Topics of the Town.

One case of hepititis, one case of Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever, one case of meningitis (down from the 2 of 1964), three scarlet fevers but no measles and no strep, threats five cases of active tuberculosis (only one in '64) and two inactive cases of tuberculosis (down from the 10 of '64) — that the health picture in the Township.

There were 176 babies born in the Township and 1,097 in the Borough. The hospital is in the Borough, of course, so that Borough population figures always look exploded. Actually, 126 babies were born to Borough residents, two more than in 1964.

It still costs $3 to get a marriage license from Borough Hall, and 39 were issued there during the year. There were 150 marriages performed in the Borough, but only 27 in the Township.

The Borrowers. Another Princeton institution, the Princeton Public Library, counted the year 1965, welcoming 1966 as the year that would see its books moved to a bright new building.

There are 43,485 of those books, a stack which is 3,485 books taller than it was the previous year. This doesn't count the 4,000 books stored in the warehouse and the 3,000 more down in the basement of the library.

Circulation remained about the same: 239,981 compared to 238,233. In 1965, 106,762 children's books went out and came back, some of them even on the day the books were due. This is 2,000 more in children's circulation than the previous year. The adult circulation figure changed by only 500.

In the registration card file, the library finds 1,200 more Borough readers and 1,200 more Township readers than in 1964 — a curious statistical co-incidence. Circulation figures seem to indicate that most of the new ones are children.

More people than ever took out the library's phonograph records: 7,841 records spun around in 1965. To the film library, 448 movies were circulated, chiefly children's stories like "Red Balloon" and films on sports and science.

As always in an economy that prospers and sends its children to the public library and takes out $2.5 million in traveler's checks, there are shadows.

The Township had 22 more welfare cases this year than last: 125, all together. The Borough, making its calculation on a different basis, reports a cumulative total of 113, down from 64's figure of 177.

Welfare reporting is fluid because some families may be on the rolls for a month or two, go off, then come back later in the year. Others may be on welfare for the entire year. The figures represent about 1% of the total community.

THAT NEW HIGH SCHOOL

What Will It Be Like? An open meeting to ponder the question, "What should a Township High School be like?" will be held next Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of Community Park School.

All Township residents are invited to attend, and to let the Citizens' Advisory Committee what to consider in planning a new high school. The meeting will not consider the area and cost of building a high school, the Citizens' Committee emphasized. That decision is the responsibility of the Board of Education.

The Citizens' Committee would like to hear the opinions of Township residents on curriculum — academic and non-academic — a guidance program, the building and its facilities, financing and extra-curricular activities.

At these topics are examined by the Citizens' Committee, additional evening meetings for the public will be scheduled.

GALLUP IS MAN OF YEAR

For Chamber of Commerce: Dr. George H. Gallup, founder of The American Institute of Public Opinion, has been named recipient of the fifth Man-of-the-Year Award presented annually by the Chamber of Commerce.

Dr. Gallup received his award Saturday in recognition of distinguished service to Princeton. Governor Richard J. Hughes was in the audience when the 64-year old Princeton resident was cited "Man of 1965" for "his achievements as a creative American, his major role in the shaping of modern-day Princeton, and his sharing with others a message ever provocative in content and affirmative in spirit."

Previous winners of the award include Dr. Robert F. Goheen, president of Princeton University; B. Franklin Bunn, former mayor of both the Borough and Township; Dr. Elmer W. Engstrom, chief executive officer of the Radio Corporation of America; and Prof. Eugene P. Wigner, Nobel Laureate in physics and Thomas D. Jones Professor of mathematical physics, Princeton University.

TOWNSHIP NAMES TWO

To Zoning, Recreation Group, Felix Perone, 134 Jefferson Road, has been named to the Township Zoning Board succeeding Harold Erdman, who was recently appointed to the Planning Board. The appointment was announced by Mayor Carl E. Schafer at Monday night's Township Committee meeting.

Committee also re-appointed William Bonthron as Township representative to the management committee of the Joint Recreation Board. Mr. Bonthron's opposite number, the Borough representative, is Ralph Hulit.

Moving in on the 1965 Federal Housing Act, Committee amended its application for 30% of the cost of acquiring the $41,500 Princeton University-Pennypacker property for Open Space. The new law allows an application for 50% of the sum, or $20,750. Since the state will pay the other $20,750, the Township will get the entire tract for nothing.

In response to question from Committeeman William Wilson, Township engineer Frank L. Quinby reported that the fast-dry tennis courts at Community Park are "almost" ready by the end of May or early June. They have been graded and the drainage system will be installed shortly, Mr. Quinby said.

With R. Donald Barr, Recreation Director, Mr. Quinby was scheduled to travel to New York this Tuesday to discuss a site plan for the swimming pool complex with the architect. Mr. Quinby said he hopes that contacts can be met in February.

STATE'S PROPOSED ROUTE FOR I-95: These are the two alternative routes laid out by the state for Interstate Highway I-95 as it traverses New Jersey from Delaware to Raritan, The "McHarg Route," favored by both Borough and Township, the Borough of Pennington and the Delaware-Raritan Citizens Committee for I-95, lies farther north, roughly along the base of the Sourland Mountains. Of the two routes shown here, the northerly one goes across Hopewell Township just south of the community of Mt. Rose, enters Montgomery between the lip of the Bedens Brook Club and the rear portion of St. Michael's Home in Hopewell, cuts across part of the Neuro-Psychiatric Institute property, then goes approximately parallel to the Reading Railroad into Hillsboro, crossing the Millstone north of Blackwells Mills, thence south of Middlebush to the Raritan. The southerly route crosses Carter Road near Western Electric, nips about 100 feet from Princeton Township on Province Line and Cherry Valley Roads, goes north of the airport, crossing the proposed Route 206 by-pass between Rocky Hill and Ingersoll Rand, then heads south and crosses the Millstone just south of Griggstown, thence across Franklin Township to the Raritan. (See "Topics of the Town.")

"THE ROAD NOT TAKEN"

"Two roads diverged in a yellow wood,
And sorry I could not travel both
And be one traveler, long I stood
And looked down one as far as I could
To where it bent in the undergrowth;
Then took the other, as just as fair . . . ."

Which, for I-95? State engineers did not quote Robert Frost Wednesday night when they showed their two I-95 alternatives to municipal officials. They apparently regard both as "just as fair," but their interest in a third, the "McHarg" route favored by Princeton Township and Princeton Borough, is problematical.

The only quotable quote on Wednesday night was "Unimaginative!" from Ian McHarg, the University of Pennsylvania planner whose more imaginative route, north of the two state proposals, was supported before the state in resolutions presented by Princeton Township and Princeton Borough.

To everyone's relief, the state immediately eliminated the old "cost estimate" route, the one which would have hacked through rock and rill in the northwestern part of Princeton Township, gouging the Audubon bird sanctuary and the Poe tract and working general havoc.

The Township obviously doesn't care much for the southermost route proposed by the state (see map) because it snips off a bit of Township land, but officials say their feelings toward the northerly route are "not unfavorable."

They still, however, believe that the McHarg alignment is the best, and Hans R. Sander, chairman of the Township Planning Board says that the Borough-Township resolutions Wednesday night "got the message across" even though state engineers and Mr. McHarg use slightly different transits for viewing the world.

"What are 'social values'?" challenged the state engineer referring to one of Mr. McHarg's criteria for choosing his route. Mr. McHarg said he would be happy to discuss his report with the engineers at length and in depth.

The next step is a public hearing; however, the Township Planning Board will ask the state to meet with board members first, to discuss the McHarg alignment in more detail.

In Pennington, the Planning Board and the Borough Council have passed, unanimously, resolutions opposing the state's two routes. The position of Franklin Township will be discussed next Monday at 8 in a public meeting in the Griggstown Firehouse by Franklin Township Committeeman J. Leonard Vliet.

I-95 negotiations cannot drag on forever because, if the state is to obtain 90% of the cost of I-95 from Federal funds, the road must be open and operating by October, 1972. Property negotiations, the engineering complexities of such things as bridge construction and the actual hammering out of the road take more time than most laymen realize.

Robert Frost chose the road "less traveled by." Any 1-95 road will be "traveled by" but the choice, like Frost's, will make all the difference.

BUDGET $5½ MILLION

For All Princeton Schools. Predictions last fall of higher school costs, regardless of the success or failure of the Borough-Township school referendum, were borne out this week by the release of the 1966-67 budget proposal of the Borough Board of Education.

The Borough will spend an estimated $2,532,740 in 1966-67 (up $333,000) and the Township $2,704,413 (up $178,427), for a total of $5,237,153. A public hearing on the Township budget, tentatively approved by the school board in December, is scheduled for 8 p.m. this Thursday at Community Park School. The Borough hearing will be held at 8 p.m. on Tuesday at Princeton High School. Both budgets come up for public vote on February 8.

Borough householders will pay an estimated 533 more in school taxes on a $25,000 property. The approximate 1966 composite tax rate will be $2.21 as compared to $1.94 for the current year, or an increase of 27 cents.

The Borough board expects $126,000 in increased revenue from state and federal funds, tuitions from the sending districts and investment earnings, giving a net increase in budget of $207,000. Of the total budget, $1,134,340 will be raised through taxes.

Budget Breakdown. The Borough has allocated $2,308,000 in current expenses, $28,000 capital improvement and $196,740 debt service. Allocations in the Township are $2,402,663 current expenses, $47,458 capital outlay and $254,294 debt service. Debt service items are not included on the February 8 ballot.

Two-thirds' salaries account for 66% ($1,662,500) of the Borough's anticipated costs, operation and maintenance of 11%, administration 4%, debt service 8%, instruction materials 3%, fringe benefits, insurance, student activities, etc. 3% and capital outlay 1%.

Twenty-five percent of the Borough's increased costs will go to the new John Witherspoon School to broaden and strengthen the elementary and junior high school program. The board expects to hire seven new full-time teachers and two part-timers at a cost of $60,000. It will spend $15,000 on instruction aids.

The high school will receive 37% of the increased funds for expanded vocational and science programs, improved programs and to relieve teacher workloads and minimize abnormally large classes. Two more teachers will be hired full time, plus eight part-timers.

Salary hikes for Borough teachers amount to 24% of the increased costs. Fixed costs, mandated by law, and sundries account for 14% of the increase. This includes $18,000 in tuitions for atypical students sent to the Child Guidance Clinic in Trenton (the Board also pays $3,000 for their transportation). A portion of this is reimbursed by the state.

Rising school costs are similarly evident in the neighboring districts. West Windsor's budget is $1,119,117, an increase of $175,337. Hopewell Regional School District has increased its budget by $201,197, primarily to be in a competitive position with the surrounding districts.

Ewing's $3,822,390 budget is up $263,735, including $201,670 in increased salaries for 250 teachers. And in Lawrence Township residents face a 50¢ to 70¢ tax increase for each $100 of assessed valuation to meet an estimated $589,000 budget rise caused by the opening of the new $2.8 million high school and an anticipated 7% increase in enrollment.

BUDGET HEARING SET

For Township Schools. A steady, even-keel budget which will cost the Township taxpayer only $4.50 more per year in school taxes on a $30,000 house, will be examined in public hearing this Thursday at 8 p.m. in Community Park School.

The gross school budget is $2,704,413 — an increase of $178,423 over last year. Because the Township expects $242,467 in state aid, $2,000 in Federal aid, $15,000 in tuition and $43,500 from its appropriated surplus, the amount to be raised by taxation is $2,401,446 or $153,057 over last year.

The largest single item of increase is the $75,020 leap in high school tuition costs paid to the Borough. Next year the Township's tuition will be well over the half-million mark: $582,660.

"Tuition is a continuing spiral," remarked superintendent John McKenna in discussing the new budget. "Tuition costs rise and we have more and more students to send to the high school."

Early Arrival

March, you've got
Six weeks to go,
Just take your wind
Old girl, and blow!

The below-normal temperatures have been underscored of late by a wind that bites. But the same temperatures have brought good thick ice to the lakes and ponds — so far with no snow to spoil the skating.

The trend is expected to continue for a while — colder than normal, with little or no precipitation. That wind may be back a gain, as a reminder that it is winter even if it isn't white.

News Of The THEATRES

"IT WAS FANTASTIC"

Agent 007 Packs Theatres. A record crowd of 9,698 James Bond fans squeezed into the Garden and Prince Theatres over the weekend to see "Thunderball."

If they couldn't get in, they waited in line in the cold, or had a cup of coffee and came back, or tried the other theatre.

"It was fantastic!" Prince manager Mike Evangelista said happily and wearily on Monday. "We were sold out most of the weekend. And the concessions! People ate and ate and ate. Everything about it was overwhelming!"

The Prince ran the film 12 times over the weekend and attendance was recorded as 5,098 for the three days.

At the Garden, the same story. Attendance at Saturday's show set a new high, beating out the previous top draw, "Tom Jones." The Garden ran nine shows, at three a day, for a total attendance of 4,600. "And the staff had to keep filling the candy machines!" manager Richard Knight said.

It was the kind of weekend movie men dream about.

FROST ON MONDAY

Will Geer Stars. The actor Will Geer will portray the poet Robert Frost on Monday when the off-Broadway hit, "An Evening's Frost" comes to McCarter, Curtain time is 8:30.

Produced last season at the University of Michigan, "An Evening's Frost" was written by Donald Hall, a professor at the University. It is, in part, a series of readings, but is also a dramatic recreation of events in Frost's life.

Jacqueline Brooks and John Randolph are in the cast with Mr. Geer. Marcella Cisney is the director.

HORA!

Those Speedy Rumanians. The hora, usually thought of as an Israeli dance, apparently keeps them stepping in Rumania, too. Speed is the chief charecteristic of the hora, and the advance man for the Rumanian Folk Ballet says that his dancers perform some of the fastest steps on record.

The Ballet will come to McCarter on Wednesday, January 26, at 8:30 with a program reflecting the kaleidoscope of Rumanian culture. Dances from Transylvania will follow wild Carpathian dances and the series of breath-taking horas will tread on the heels of an equally breath-taking Sirba. The Sirba is a dance emphasizing the acrobatic and athletic prowess of the men in the troup.

LIFE, ITALIAN STYLE

Gassman, in Anthology. "The Game of Heroes — An Anthology of Italian Theatre" will be shown in McCarter Theatre on Sunday, February 27, at 3 p.m.

McCarter is one of eight theatres throughout the nation chosen to present Signor Gassman's film anthology. Its American premiere will be held one week before at the Vivian Beaumont Theatre, Lincoln Center.

"The Game of Life" includes scenes from Pirandello, Ugo Betti, Goldoni, Griffi and other notable Italian playwrights. Starting with commedia del 'arte, and continuing to the present, Signor Gassman explores the full range of the theatre of his native land.

Dialogue is Italian, for the most part, although there is an introduction in English to each scene.

NEXT WEEK: BRECHT

For Three Weekends. Bertolt Brecht's "The Good Woman of Setzuan" will be given on three successive Friday and Saturday evenings at 8:30, starting Friday, January 28, by the Princeton Community Players in Murray Theatre.

Appearing for the first time with the Players will be Ann Rottman as the Good Woman, Roselyn Solo, another Players' new comer, will play Mrs. Shin.

Others in the cast are John Keswin, Trevor Owens Morris Yagunda, Flora Bell Roebuck, Tom Queenan, Cornelis Rummel, Tom Schmitz, Kendal Brown, Sally Hamilton, Anne Burrowes, Deborah Savadge, Patricia Schwartz, Suzanne Hayes-Jones, Charles Green, Charles Swelgart, Alan Vomacka, Christopher Reeve and Mark Cohen.

"THE GOOD WOMAN" Ann Rottman will make her debut with Princeton Community Players as Shen Te, the "Good Woman of Setzuan" in Bertold Brecht's drama.

SATCHMO!

In Trenton, Sixteen performances in ten days — that's the schedule blocked out for Louis (Satchmo) Armstrong and Myron Cohen when they appear at the Trenton War Memorial, January 28 through February 6 as part of the Delaware Valley Sports Show.

Two performances , at 2 and 8 p.m. live shows Friday, Saturday and Sunday, January 28-30 and February 4-6. Single performances will be given Monday through Thursday, January 31 to February 3.

Mr. Cohen is a former silk salesman who caused his salesmanager when he was 41 and became a professional comedian. Mr. Armstrong hardly needs introduction.

Sports fans who aren't interested in either jazz or ex-silk salesmen can examine boats, campers, travel trailers, motorcycles, archery equipment and guns any time from noon to midnight.

TRYOUTS SCHEDULED

"You Can't Take It With You." Tryouts will be held this Sunday at 2 and Monday at 8:30 p.m. in Murray Theatre on campus for "You Can't Take It with You," the spring production of the University's Theatre Intime.

The George Kaufman-Moss Hart comedy will be given for one week starting Friday, February 25.

Anyone is eligible to try out. There are nine male roles to fill and seven female roles. The play will be directed by Morris E. Kinnan Jr., president of Theatre Intime in 1950 and now a TV producer.

QUARTET DANCES

To Appear in February. The four dancers of the First Chamber Dance Quartet are all gifted soloists who have chosen to blend their talents, both dancing and choreographic, into the ensemble.

The Chamber Dance Quartet will appear in McCarter on Sunday, February 6, at 3 p.m. Tickets are now on sale.

For their McCarter program, they have chosen "The Cunning," and "Vincent," both with music by Bloch; two compositions danced to music by J.S Bach, a "Cappriolo" and "Ein Kleiner Tanz," five songs from the "Dichterliebe" of Robert Schumann; "Under Green Leaves," with music by Telemann, "Part II," from "Poeme Electronique" by Edgar Varese and "Nagare," danced to traditional 18th-century Japanese music.

The dances have all been choreographed by the four members of the quartet, combining traditional classic ballet and the Quartet's own free-style

IT'S NEW
To Us

FIND A FABRIC

At Fabric Find. The minute we saw the splendid gold frog, we realized it was a special kind of shop. It's "Fabric Find," a new shopping place for women who sew, or wish they did. Location: 195 Nassau, in quarters which will be recognized by Republicans as last fall's GHQ.

The five sections of the frog, linked together, are surely five inches long, made of heavy braid encrusted with gold. It's one of the accessories that makes Fabric Find a gilt-edged shop, indeed.

Others are, for example, the braided buttons which you may have made from a scrap of fabric, to match any garment you own. On the sample card are 20 different styles, including a tasseled Chinese red button, a pinwheel of deep turquoise, a beret of black and a tiny kiss of brilliant peacock.

Non-fabric buttons, too: one a contorted sand dollar, another a small of antiqued brass, a third, a cluster of minute seashells.

But — what about the bolts of fabric? Spring wools like the Hadleys, dyed precisely to match the ready-made Hadley Shetlands, will start you sewing right now. The sweaters, at $14.95, and the yardage at $5.95 a yard, make sewing an economic pleasure. We liked that misty lilac-blue, but there are four others.

Mrs. Van Citters, who owns the shop, is dedicated to coordinates, and everything in the shop can be co-ordinated to something else in the shop. The Hadley tweed, for instance, can team up with a linen print or a solid-color linen.

Hackanum bonded wools in lime yellow, powder, avocado, sand or navy, join hands with linen prints or with a more sophisticated flowered silk print which echoes the color in the solid fabric.

Sports cottons, to wear south now and here in the summer, have their co-ordinate prints, too. "Parfait Marmalade" is a souffle of pale apricot, and there's a willow green almost as delicate.

And while we're with cottons, look at this homespun, sturdy and practical le weight, but wild and carefree in print. It has a rich dark blue ground with real, real poppies in deep red, sunflowers, Dutch iris and white nicotiana, all in full, life-like size and color.

Japanese tie-dyed cottons, at $2 a yard, will tempt you all the way to summer. You can even see the pin marks where the cloth was tied and held for dyeing. Colors are shifting and dark, quite different in character from the Japanese batik, which are next on the shelf.

And if you're bored to death with Madras, look at this one: It's warp print and looks like a TV screen in desperate need of repair, but it's Madras woven and dyed in India, if you can believe it.

Another delight for summer, especially if you're young, will be Fabric Find's shift panel with a deep border and a panel of peonies. Buy two panels, front and back, for about $2.50, and you have a dress!

"Designer cuts" will be a specialty of Fabric Find. These are yardages of wool — effortless French wools at the moment — matched with the silk to make blouse or jacket lining. You buy the package, and that's it. Nobody else will be able to buy that particular combination of fabrics, because Fabric Find has made only one package of each. Try that pale linen and white French wool plaid for a spring suit.

Findings, of course: zippers, bias tape, etc. We were fascinated by the new "Unique" metal zipper, the one that conceals its stitching completely. Easy to install, invisible within the dress — you'll see!

Patterns, to order, are Vogue and Spadea. In the pattern drawer, you'll find a delightful invention of Mrs. Van Citters' a panel of fabric tacked to the wall and overlaid with a transparent plastic sheet. On the clear plastic, Mrs. Van Citters has sketched, in black outline, a figure in a suit or dress which would look nice made up in the fabric under the overlay.

Incidently, one of the shop's treasures is the French magazine, "Elegance," with colored swatches matching the color photographs of fashion models. We'll bet "Elegance" is thumbed to a frazzle in one month.

GIVE ME A LIFT

Thorne's, Mid-Winter. Just as chapped lips are creaking for the hundredth time and winter seems long indeed, Thorne's comes on brightly with with some mid-winter pleasantries.

Slap-Smith "A Veil of Argege," that new body lotion which, if we can believe the Argege happy writer, who has always promised us anything, "silkens as it scents and gives long-lasting fragrance with a caressing feel." You can take a bath and smooth some on after the kids have gone off to school. Thorne's offers the Veil for $3.50 with a dispenser.

Carven insinuates itself into the boudoir with Ma Griffe, Robe d'Un Soir and the Vetiver, for men, all at $2 for an ounce and a half, with aerosol spray. Dior's "Miss Dior" competes with a two-ounce cologne and atomizer at $3.50. Remember that sassy black houndstooth packaging? Fresh and appealing.

The cosmetics business being as competitive as pro football and just about as gentle. Du Barry enters the lists with a long list: the $2 dry skin creme for $1.25; the $3.50 creme masque called "Vibrance" for $2; the $2.75 dry skin cleansing creme for $1.65 and the $2.25 skin freshener lotion for $1.25. How can you

KHANGA: That's what it is, a khanga, Made in England of fine cotton for African tribesmen, khaogas are part of the stock at Fabric Find. This one is bright orange, black and white and bears the legend "UKINIONA SIRUJA UJUWE FUKO UME VUJA," which probably means "cut along selvedge." Use it for summer poncho, tablecloth or — khanga. Holding the khanga are (left) Mrs. Edith Van Citters, owner of Fabric Find, and store's manager, Mrs. Greta Childs. (Staff Photo)

We Knew Him When

If you went to McCarter a year ago this spring for the repertory series, you undoubtedly remember a splendid young comic actor named MacIntyre Dixon.

Well, Mr. Dixon has made the drama columns of the New York papers for his work, if that's the word, in the new revue, "The Mad Show based on Mad Magazine. Praise, praise, all a-long the line.

McCarter subscribers will recall his portier in "Macbeth" and the uproarious hypochondriac he played in the Chekov "Marriage Proposal." He was a country pumpkin in "The Rivals" and later showed his versatility in a straight role in "As You Desire Me."

city crime also stars Sterling Hayden, Sam Jaffe, Louis Calhern and James Whitmore.

PLAYHOUSE

The Sleoder Thread and Breakfast at Tiffani's (now playing) An actual occurence suggested the situation which has been translated into "The Slender Thread." The screen story concerns a woman who phones into Suicide's Crisis Clinic, reaches a volunteer, and tells him she has taken an overdose of sleeping pills. Sidney Poitier is the volunteer who tries desperately to hold the woman on the line while he sets a rescue attempt in motion. Anne Bancroft, the woman attempting suicide, refuses to tell where she is.

Scenes of the waterfront and of the city bring a sense of reality to the film story. There is an absence of wild hysteries and frantic heroics as the police, Coast Guard and the telephone company unite in the grim business of rescue.

Breakfast at Tiffany's, starring Audrey Hepburn, first played here early in 1962.

GARDEN and PRINCE

Thunderball (now playing) Remember the Aston Martin DB 5 that appeared in "Goldfinger," equipped with twin browning machine guns behind the headlights, a set of tire-slashers, revolving license places, and an ejector seat for unwanted passengers? Sean Connery as James Bond swings it back into action in "Thunderball."

There are also rocket-firing motor bikes, a two-man diving bell that operates at 15 fathoms, huge underwater sleds capable of transporting 20 megaton H-Bombs, a giant hydrofoil that skims the ocean at 95 mph, and a land-to-air device that makes Bond soar aloft at 180 miles per hour.

The indestructible secret agent has four beautiful playmates, chief of whom is Luciana Paluzza as the lethal lady.

The action and there's plenty to satisfy all Bond fans, takes place in and around the luxury hotels and beach clubs of the Bahamas, and in colorful settings of the Out Islands

NEW STRAND

Freud (now playing) released in 1962, has been rarely shown since its release in 1962. Montgomery Clift has the title role, and Susannah York portrays the neurotic young girl whose case history provided Freud with his famous insight into the mysteries of the human mind.

It Federale, released orginally as "The Fascist," stars Ugo Tognazzi as a fanatic Italian in World War II. Assigned to capture an underground anti-fascist professor as a hostage against the advancing Allies, he suffers many misadventures with his prisoner in town, including capture by the Germans' escape, capture by the Allies and partisan vengeance.

Let's Talk About Women stars Vittorio Gassman in nine different roles to demonstrate the frailties of the female sex, without every really convincing anyone that it ought to be abolished. The sex, not the film.

TOWN TOPICS reaches every home and place of business served by the Princeton post office. By their own figures, no other Princeton newspaper does half as well.

afford not to stock up on everything?

Soap, too. Roger and Gallet's once-a-year special gives you a $3 value for $2 and in the case of sandalwood, a $3.50 value for $2.50.

Yardley matches with one cake free when you buy three. All four come in a perky little plastic carrying case with handle. Red Roses, April Violets, Bond Street, Carnation, English Lavender (Yardley INVENTED Lavender for goodness' sake) and Yardley for Men. Hand size, $1.75; bath size, $2.75, each case with a sweet little gift card.

Helena Rubinstein is never last on anybody's list, so don't tell Thorne's has the grande dame prominently displayed, offering the Estrogenic Hormone Cream with Progesterone for $4.50. It's usually $7.50. The Young Touch Hand Lotion, with hormones, is also on special.

For your dearest sniffly, take home "Sleepy." the Prak-t-kal vaporizer that looks like a Choo-Choo. Why didn't somebody think of this before! There is also Humpty Dumpty, huffing and steaming away, and a turtle, but we loved that steam engine. "I think I can! I think I can! . . . .

SAND IN YOUR SHOES

Sun on Your Back. Stacy sends you swaggering south in bright solid slacks with wide contrasting patent belts: melon with chocolate, yellow with aqua; baby blue with yellow; navy with red.

The Lawrence Shopping Center shop has sleek bathing suits by Elisabeth Stewart, designed for the gal who wants to look sophisticated but not flashy. Pewter, a kind of no-color green, is piped with apricot in one tank suit. Another is shocking with apricot piping. Another is a print of turquoise, lime, powder and white.

Most Elisabeth Stewarts have a low back with a keyhole decolletage. Apres swim, she shrugs on a thigh-length poplin jacket with pleated sleeves and pleated pockets, if you please. It's apricot, aqua or avocado. Dry off with a velour popover and bloomers.

You won't be wet all the time. Try Stacy's packable Jonberry dresses from France, in knit acetate. The ivory and emerald medallion print has much to recommend it, and so does the ivory with its black peaks changing at a low waistline to black with white peaks. These are sleeveless dresses, around $40 and $50.

Similar, but in the $25 seats, are the kanlon prints, soft enough to pull through a ring, wild enough to pass for a Tiffany lamp. They have long sleeves, curiously enough and roll-over or drawstring, collars. Sashes are optional. We liked the one with little peacock tails in layers of black, fuschia and — peacock.

If it's cool, Stacy hovers over you with a light-weight wool shirt shift, zipped to the hem, with short sleeves, patch pockets. It's navy, coral, oyster, sand, lime, each one stitched almost invisibly with a bright contrast.

Ladies' who shudder at Gaugin prints will pack Stacy's linen knit two-piece in maize with its brief sleeves, tiny V-neck and two gentle sprays of green and apricot flowers. The two-piece white wool, sleeveless with its deeply cowled neckline, is unadorned except by your tan.

CORRECTION

A line of type was inadvertently omitted from last week's story on Borough Council, and the impression was thereby created that Borough Councilmen now receive $500 yearly, and would be raised to $2,500 under a proposal submitted by Robert van de Velde.

Mr. van de Velde suggested that Councilmen, who now receive nothing at all, should receive $1,500 a year and the mayor, who now receives $500, should be paid $2,500.

On the Rocks, Please

Chequers Scotch, a noble remedy for winter ills and the summer complaint, is now available in Princeton at the Brown Jug, 190 Nassau, according to John McEwan and Co., Ltd., of Elgin, Morayshire, Scotland, distillers and connoisseurs.

The man in charge of distilling is named MacKenzie and the managing director is a Meinken and as if that weren't enough, the fires in the essential kiln are made of coke overlaid with moss peat from the Mannich moors.

The result is a brew which could even convert some of the Princeton bourbon drinkers. But don't tell Mr. MacKenzie we take oars on the rocks.

Topics Of The Town

The Township has budgeted for 747 high school pupils next year at a per pupil cost of $780. In the current year, the Township is paying $740 each for 696 students.

Salaries Up. The second highest item of increase is $76,465 more in salaries for teachers and members of the administration staff. Of this, $66,150 is for higher teachers' salaries. The new teachers' salary schedule, worked out jointly with the Borough Board, is for one year only, and the Township will begin this month to discuss long-range salary schedules with teachers' representatives.

"Because of the merger situation last year, we were not able to spend the time working out a long-range schedule," explained Board member David Brodsky. "The teachers agreed to go along with this, but we realize that they aren't too happy with the new one-year arrangement and that's why we will begin very shortly to re-examine salaries."

Mr. Brodsky added that there were "strong upward pressures" on the board, where salaries are concerned.

The third item of increase is $13,000 more for remodeling for 747 high school pupils next year at a per pupil cost of $780. In the current year, the Township is paying $740 each for 696 students.

1964 — The Most Heralded Wine Of The Century

No. 7 In A Series

After three magnificent vintage years out of five (the years of 1959, 1961 and 1963), experts everywhere and our correspondents in France are again using superlatives to describe the year of 1964.

Perhaps the highest acclaim comes from a source who should know. The French Minister of Agriculture, M. Pisani, speaking to his Cabinet colleagues has said "Buy a few casks of the 1964 vintage to lay down. It will be as great as 1921."

Not many of us can afford the luxury of "a few casks" nor even the traditional "laying down of a pipe" (a pipe constitutes 57 dozen bottles), but for those serious wine lovers who read this, may we offer some advice?

The great Chateau-bottled 1964 Bordeaux and their equally illustrious counterparts from Burgundy will not be generally available until sometime around the Spring of 1967. None the less, tasters abroad are hailing this as indeed "the vintage of the century." This is high praise and actually may be something of an overstatement particularly when the excellent 1959's, the even superior 1961's and the somewhat less great but immensely worthwhile 1962's are on hand now and are hard to surpass.

Prices of the 1964 vintage are, unfortunately, already reflecting this high promise. Thus, the far-seeing buyer is placing his orders with his wine merchant now since the price he pays will generally run about 10% to 15% below current retail prices of the 59's, 61's and 62's of comparable vintages. When the great '64's do appear on our shelves, we expect they will come in higher than anything now on the market.

We will be happy to take your orders at these favorable prices for future delivery. If you know several wines you particularly like or are in the habit of enjoying a bottle or two of a great label when the occasion is appropriate, we can think of no worthier investment.

But we have saved perhaps the best news for last. The summer of 1964 was an exceptionally hot one in France and this produced a number of remarkably soft, fruity, nearly elegant young wines which developed quickly and are not only available now but perfectly drinkable!

The harvests were particularly bountiful in the Beaujolais where the reds are a magnificent compliment to almost any meal. While somewhat less was harvested in the Loire Valley, the white wines there are remarkably soft and fragrant and possibly among the best buys now available.

We are pleased to be able to offer outstanding examples of both these wines at prices which make them more than competitive with domestic wines. You owe it to yourself to sample each of these and, if you find one you particularly favor, buy a case or two. By the time you have consumed these lesser but none the less truly marvelous 1964's, the great ones will be appearing although, we warn you, at considerably higher prices.

Look forward to them, of course, but meanwhile enjoy these early arrivals and drink the vintage of the century at what may be the bargain price of the century.

story school buildings, community Park will be first, and the Board has allocated $9,000 for this project.

Another $4,000 will be spent to double, more or less, the size of the Valley Road library, sacrificing one classroom to the expansion The Board plans to spend $3,330 to equip this expanded library. Valley Road is now the Township's junior high.

Playground Program. Other items budgeted for Capital Outlay include $2,500 to air-condition the Community Park library so that it can be used for various community activities throughout the summer. The Board also allocated $3,000 to the development of Community Park and Johnson Park playgrounds, thereby bringing to a close, more or less, the five-year program for playground development.

At present, there are 2,225 elementary children in the Township schools and next year there will be 2,400 according to estimate. The Board plans to add one teacher for the sixth grade and one for an elementary grade, the smallest number added to the faculty for several years.

The number of Township students has been increasing by about 150 each year, "All classes are larger than that class was the year before," Dr. McKenna said. "The average net gain, kindergarten through eighth grade, is five children per class per year. We thought we'd evened a leveling-off last year, but we had to hire more teachers than we expected."

Dr. McKenna also commented on mobility in the Township. Expecting 42 more ninth graders to ship to the high school than eighth graders who graduated from Valley Road, Dr. McKenna found exactly that number. But they were 42 new youngsters.

rough and Township will be given the opportunity to express their views next Wednesday at 8:15 at the Community Park School. The League of Women Voters will sponsor the program.

All speakers will be asked to answer the question, "What do you consider to be the key issues the Borough (or Township) school system will face in the next three years and how would you propose to meet them?" Questions may also be raised from the audience.

Moderating the meeting will be Mrs. Elmer Alpert. Mrs. James H. Simons will serve as time-keeper and Mrs. James E. McHenry, Mrs. Theodore Petrie and Mrs. Gordon H. Mack will act as hostesses.

At the meeting candidate sheets, listing a short autobiography of each office-seeker and a statement of the problems he anticipates and solutions he proposes, will be passed out. Copies of these sheets may also be obtained next week at the library and many of the local stores or by contacting Mrs. Leonard Baum, 386 Riverside Drive.

Arrangements for the meeting and candidate sheet distribution were made by Mrs. Baum, chairman of voters' service for the League of Women Voters, assisted by Mrs. Paul Routly, Mrs. V. Bruce, Mrs. Charles Rice, Mrs. Robert E. Danielson, Mrs. David M. Cohen and Mrs. J. Berger.

WHAT ABOUT THE POOLS?

Teen Center to Join Them?

Despite the frigid temperature outside, the subject of swimming pools last week was uppermost in the minds of the members of the Joint Recreation Commission. But the largest part of its meeting was devoted to a discussion of a possible neighbor of the pools — a teenage recreation building.

First, those pools. The question that R. Donald Barr, Princeton recreation director had to answer was: Is the $350,000 Community Gardens pool complex going to be ready as promised by Memorial Day? "If we can break ground by the middle of March," said Mr. Barr, "I think will be able to maintain our deadline."

Mr. Barr said that he had seen sketches of the bath house prepared by Costello Associates of the Long Island firm serving as architects for the pool complex. He added that Costello was now completing preliminary sketches of the pool area itself, as soon as these are ready, he and Frank Quinby, Township engineer, will go to Long Island to view them so that Mr. Quinby can coordinate parking with the pools and the tennis courts.

In answer to a query about the rate of progress, Mr. Barr said: "I feel we're moving along quite rapidly." He announced that he would call a special meeting of the recreation board in one or two weeks to look at the final sketches. The Planning Board would also view the sketches. "If we can get final approval from the board at this special meeting, then we can back to our consultants and I think hold to our schedule," he said.

Teenage Club Discussed. Mr. Barr then reported that he had had conversations with representatives of the Princeton Lions Club and Arthur Blackland, president of the student council at Princeton High School, concerning the possible construction of a teenage center. Young Blackland and Rogers Carrington, an active worker with teenagers and director of the Young Life program here, spoke at the meeting.

Buckland said that a questionnaire had been prepared and would be passed out among students at Princeton High, the Hun School and the Princeton Day School. It is designed primarily, he said, to ascertain whether students would go to Community Park if a teenage center were located there and want facilities they would like to see in such a center.

Mr. Buckland added that the response from a limited, informal check among the students was "not overwhelming." With the main identity of the teenagers centered on Nassau Street, it was felt by many that Community Park would be out of the way. One high school junior put it this way: "Unless they locate it on the one block of Nassau Street, it will never go."

Mr. Carrington said that the initial inquiry on the teenagers' part centered using the basement of Renwick's Restaurant, 50 Nassau Street, a popular "hangout" for teenagers. Owner Harold Ostroff, a member of the Lions, took it to the organization, which offered to build a $150,000 teenage center. Aware that a Nassau Street location was preferred but that it would be economically prohibitive, the Lions said they would locate the building on land owned by the Recreation Commission—Community Park.

Others Join. To raise the necessary capital, Mr. Carrington reported that the Lions talked of floating a bond issue, that it would be their major project for the next two or three years and that they hoped other service clubs would join in. He came armed with a plan for a student center, drawn by architect and Lion Richard Chorlton, based on what teenagers wanted most in such a building.

The plan was impressive. The building, containing about 15,000 square feet, would include a sunken lounge, a huge fireplace, a meeting room, a large room for dancing, a small room for ping pong tables, pool, cards and the like and a snack bar. A section of the ceiling could be lowered to serve as a stage.

"The building would create a new focus for teenagers, whose only option so far has been Nassau Street," commented Mr. Carrington. "The feeling was," he said, "that if the building was this good, it wouldn't matter where it was located. At one point in his comments, Mr. Carrington said that he had been able to trace back to 1939 talk of building a center for teenagers in Princeton.

Final control of the center and the cost of maintenance would be in the hands of the Recreation Board, Mr. Carrington added, however, that he saw a sub board serving as a coordinate between the Recreation Board and the teenagers acting as manger of the club.

At the conclusion of his remarks Mr. Carrington said he hoped he would be able to take back to the Lions the general feeling of the Recreation Board about the project. We're impressed and interested,' said board member Mrs. Richard Schoch. When the results of the questionnaires had been compiled, and if the teenagers expressed an interest in the Community Park site, Mr. Carrington was invited to return with a formal statement to the Recreation Board.

FUND TOPS GOAL AGAIN

$426,232 Is Raised. For the sixth straight year, the United Fund-Red Cross campaign has surpassed its quota, Allan Frank, chairman of the drive which solicits gifts for charitable and welfare purpose in Princeton and nearly a dozen nearby communities, announced this week that $426,232 has been received in cash and pledges, against a goal of $423,420.

The quota set exceeded last year's by some $39,000 but the drive was successful through the combined efforts of more than 2,000 volunteer solicitors and the willingness to give on the part of 16,190 contributors. The latter figure exceeds the number of donors last year by more than 1,000.

William E. Coley, the Fund's executive director under whose guidance the goal has been topped each year since 1960, pointed out that public support of the campaign is re-

CAMPAIGN BEGINS

For Borough School Votes. Action groups on the opposite sides of the fence fired off statements and endorsements this week and the campaign for Borough School board began to roll.

Newest development is the formation of the "Citizens for Borough Schools." The organization backs the candidacies of John A. Buckland and Robert A. Lively, both incumbents, and Mrs. Arthur F. Wagner. Officers are A. Morton Good and H. Philip Minis, co-chairmen; Mrs. C. E. St. John, secretary, and Tristam B. Johnson, treasurer.

S.O.S. (Serve Our Schools) on the other hand, announced its support of Dr. Alfred S. Cook Jr., Mrs. Kathleen Edwards and Stuart Carothers. It also stated that these candidates have resigned from the S.O.S. steering committee which successfully defeated the Borough-Township school referendum in October.

C.B.S. states that "our current crisis in cooperation with the Township must be solved before Borough children are condemned to irreparable educational harm . . . Our schools will slide and our taxes will soar if we try to go it alone."

S.O.S. declares that a "re-run of this community-rending proposal (regionalization with Township schools) is totally unnecessary, unwise and cruelly divisive . . ." The candidates it backs advocate "full exploration of all alternatives to K-12 merger," including a regionalized high school. Both groups accuse the other of inflexibility.

C.B.S. Statement. "The lines are drawn for the February 8 election of three members of the Borough School board," C.B.S. officers said. "Experience and professional quality alone would ordinarily insure the election of Mrs. Wagner, Dr. Buckley and Dr. Lively, but in this election there are issues which go deep and forces which will work hard against the election of the most qualified candidates.

"The October referendum failed to define Borough views on school merger, in the light of subsequent developments. Flexibility in future discussion with the various sending districts, including the Township, is vital to head off unthinking sabotage of the aspirations of the Borough's youth."

The co-chairmen state that the other candidates are members of the S.O.S. steering committee. "They are trying to disavow any organizational identity," the co-chairmen said, "but the obvious fact is that they make up an undeniable S.O.S. slate."

Entering a plea for further discussions on merger with the Township school system, the co-chairmen said, "S.O.S. and its steering committee have boxed themselves into a corner where they can neither negotiate with others nor plan anything but the bleakest of futures.

"The candidates we support . . . have individually assured us of their convictions that: (1) Our schools will slide and our taxes will soar if we try to go it alone. All our rapidly-growing sending districts if they do not build schools of their own, will demand a voice in our school.

"(2) Our current crisis in cooperation with the Township must be solved before Borough children are condemned to irreparable educational harm."

C.B.S. called Mrs. Wagner, Dr. Buckland and Dr. Lively acutely alert to the peril to Princeton High School and will thus be placed before uniquely qualified to support excellence in curriculum and teaching. Their election on February 8 is crucial."

S.O.S. Statement. The Serve Our Schools committee announced "with regret" the resignations of Dr. Cook, Mrs. Edwards and Mr. Carothers from its steering committee "in order that they might make their race as representatives of all Borough think ing. This we believe is in the proper spirit of public service

"No one group's interests community interest. We believe that their election to the School Board on February 8 will bring about a broader reflection of Borough opinion and a truer recognition of voters' wishes."

S.O.S. believes that another try for regionalization of Borough and Township schools may be in the offing. For those who feel as we do that a re-run of this community-rending proposal is totally unnecessary, unwise and cruelly divisive, there is a distinct choice among the candidates in the forth-coming election."

Stating that it feels an obligation to the 1,249 Borough residents who joined it in opposition to the merger referendum S.O.S. said "We therefore announce our wholehearted support for Dr. Cook, Mrs. Edwards and Mr. Carothers. All three are public-spirited citizens with a record of civic service, and well equipped to serve their community further in this new undertaking."

Second Referendum Favored.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I would like to thank the Princeton High School faculty for their statement of concern about the prospect of a second high school in the Princeton Community.

I only wish that they had followed this through to its logical conclusion. Because the status quo is unacceptable to the Township and because a regionalized high school would disrupt the Borough's K-12 system without giving the Township a K-12 system, the referendum to regionalize the entire Borough and Township school system should be resubmitted to the voters.

IBM CENTER OPENS To Train Employees, IBM's

Supplies Division opened a new education center last week for training sales representatives, field engineers and customers. The center is utilizing some 5,000 square feet of space on four floors of a new building at 22 Chambers Street.

Already under operation, the new education facility is equipped with the latest visual education aids. It also has two main classrooms, three seminar rooms, a general meeting room and a customer assistance center for data processing cards and forms.

In announcing the center, Frank H. McCracken, division general manager and a resident of 27 Olden Lane, said. "The expansion of our educational operations is the result of growth of the division's product lines. We selected Princeton because of the area's excellent education environment and its accessibility to our nearby divisional headquarters."

The first classes include a sales training program for more than 50 men from 21 states. An IBM supplies sales representative will undergo a 30-week education program involving both classroom and field work.

As new products are announced by the company, IBM customer engineers from branch offices across the country will be trained at the center to service the equipment. Customer executives will attend sessions showing the latest uses of these products.

Since the Supplies Division relocated its marketing, manufacturing and administrative headquarters from New York City to Princeton in 1962, IBM has opened several new facilities in the area.

OFFICERS ANNOUNCED

By Real Estate Group. The Princeton Estate Group has announced its officers for the coming year. Karl M. Light will serve as president of the group, founded in 1964. Other officers include Joyce Woodruff, vice-president; James McKenzie, treasurer and Helen VanCleve secretary.

The group is composed of a majority of Princeton's Real Estate Brokers. Its objectives include promoting high standards of business conduct, protecting the public against unethical practices, advancing area growth and supporting legislation to improve the area and the real estate profession.

CHAN'S IS 11

Tree Hors d'Oeuvre. Free chopsticks for both resident and take-out customers will be offered from this Thursday through Sunday at Chan's Restaurant in the Princeton Shopping Center.

The Chinese restaurant will offer, to luncheon and dinner customers, free hors d'oeuvre in the form of shrimp chips. Mr. Chan and his staff are celebrating their 11th anniversary at the shopping center location. (See advertisement, page 4.)

The three candidates, S.O.S. said, "have openly stated their belief that a second referendum to bring about total merger is not in the best interests of the Borough. They have advocated instead full exploration of the alternatives to K-12 merger, including the study of a regionalized High School with one superintendent and one administration.

"On the other hand, the three 'pro-merger' candidates profess to see other meanings in the referendum's defeat. There is no evidence that they are receptive to any alternatives to total merger; indeed there would seem to be considerable reluctance on their part to consider seriously any other answer. In short, they do not represent Borough thinking as reflected in that October vote."

Teachers' Letter. S.O.S. concludes, "We applaud the recent letter of the High School teachers deploring those forces which demand a separate high school without first seeking other alternatives. A second high school might conceivably be the Township's solution. Unless reasonable people can be persuaded to discuss alternatives, it will also be the only solution offered. This course, then, as the teachers fear, can only divide the two communities further."

In other developments, a group of Negro parents were advised on Tuesday to study the issues and vote on issues, not race, by the Rev. Shelby Rooks of the Fund for Theological Education.

$194,569 FOR HOSPITAL

$421,224 To Go. Princeton Hospital edged upward this week toward its 'century' goal of $615,883.

The fund now stands at $194,569, with $421,224 to go. An anonymous donor will provide $250,000 to meet the contractor's requirement of $865,000 if the community can raise the rest. The contractor has told the hospital that he will hold the project open until early March, thereby giving about six week's more in fund-raising time.

Three large gifts were presented to the hospital this week:

- Princeton Bank and Trust increased its previous pledge to $50,000, payable over the next three years.
- Hook and Ladder Chemical Company No. 1 gave a check for $1,000.
- A Princeton resident, who asked not to be identified, gave $5,000.

MEDICARE QUESTIONS?

Representative to Help. A representative from the Social Security office in Trenton will be in Princeton Tuesday to answer questions on medicare and other Social Security programs and register those over 65 for medicare. He will be in Borough Hall on Stockton Street from 9 to 12 noon.

Those wishing to register for medicare must sign an application for benefits before March 31. They may do so either Tuesday or at the Trenton office on 437 East State Street during regular weekday business hours. The Trenton office will also be able to answer questions from 9 to 12 on Saturday mornings. The telephone number is 396-3545.

SEVEN ARE FINED

In Borough Court, seven Princeton area drivers were fined Monday by Borough Magistrate Theodore T. Tame Jr.

Thomas J. Devlin, 39, 67 Stanworth Lane, was fined $45 and had his licensed revoked for 10 days for careless driving. Linda Reed, 17, Hightstown Road, Cranbury, paid $10 for the same offense. Both pleaded not guilty.

Paying fines of $12 each were Mrs. Eva Eisenhauer, 26, 405-B Butler Avenue, red light, John J. Tufano, 17, 29 Maclean Street, Douglas W. Phillips, 17, 291 Prospect Avenue, and Mrs. Arlene Macy, 42, 275 Riverside Drive — all stop sign infractions. Mrs. Macy was also fined $15 as an unlicensed driver.

David A. Shabods, 26, 43 Harris Road, paid $27 for speeding, and Marc R. Soldavon, 17, Skillman, $10 for noncompliance with a learner's permit.

OPEN HOUSE THURSDAY

For Adult School. The open house which is held just prior to the start of a new term for the Princeton Adult School will take place this Thursday night from 8 to 9:30 at the Princeton High School. In-person registration for the 45 courses offered during the ten weeks beginning Thursday, January 27, may be made at that time, or during the afternoon between 4 and 6.

Subjects in which instruction is provided range from stenography and the use of office machines to tennis, bridge, modern dance and interior decorating. Courses in sculpture, painting from the model and wood engraving are in the curriculum, as are English for the foreign-born, French, Italian, Spanish, German and Russian. However, most of the language courses are continued from the fall term, and new students must confer with the instructors at the open house about the possibility of joining now.

There is no limit on registration for the principal lecture series, "The Art of the Baroque." The first of ten lecturers in this course, to be held January 27 at 8 p.m., is Prof. John R. Martin, chairman of the Art Department at Princeton University.

Copies of the complete curriculum may be obtained at TOWN TOPICS, 4 Mercer Street. Further information is also available by calling 882-5832 between 12 and 2 or 7 and 8 p.m.

RABBI TO SPEAK

To Memorial Association. The Princeton Memorial Association will hold its annual meeting on Monday at 8 in Pierce Hall, Trinity Episcopal Church, 33 Mercer Street. Rabbi Everett Gendler of the Jewish Center will speak on the topic "The Funeral within Judaism."

The meeting, open to the public, will further the Association's aims of aiding its members with information and advice on the observances after death.

Free informational literature will be available at the meeting.

AUCTION ANNOUNCED

By Smith Club. The Smith College Club's seventh annual auction will be held a week from Saturday at 10 a.m. in the Italian-American Sportsmen's Club on Terhune Road. Chairman of the event will be Mrs. Raymond W. Mitchell, while Lester M. Slatoff will serve as auctioneer.

Items to be auctioned, some of which were donated by Princeton area stores, include dark room equipment, dictaphones, a lawn mower, cherry chest, grand piano, bar refrigerator, a pair of Mexican fighting cocks, ice skates, furniture, china and silver. A raffle will also be held with the winner receiving a Bermuda vacation for two or an RCA color television. A baked goods and small gifts table will also be set up.

GIRL STRIKES CAR

While Lighting Cigarette. Linda R. Reed, 17, Hightstown Road, Cranbury, struck a parked car last Wednesday afternoon, while driving on Moore Street. She was treated for shock. Her passenger, Sandra L. Carson, 17, of Trenton, received bruises and abrasions.

Miss Reed told police she was attempting to light a cigarette and as she did so she turned her wheel to the right. Her car veered into a parked car owned by Roger Newcomer, 35 Dodds Lane, damaging both extensively. Ptl. Donald Forward cited Miss Reed for careless driving.

AGAINST ANOTHER MERGER VOTE: Mrs. Katherine Glanopolos, Princeton Township resident, would be opposed to a second school merger referendum sometime this spring because she feels it would increase her taxes.

Question of the Week

Question: Would you be in favor of a second school merger referendum some time this spring?

Where asked: Nassau Street.

Mrs. Tibor Fabian, 551 Riverside E., housewife: Yes, if an adequate campaign is conducted beforehand with clear and convincing arguments.

Mrs. Arthur Feio, Rocky Hill, housewife: Yes, I would because I think both sides have had time to reconsider the various issues and perhaps see the value of a good school system.

Mrs. William Radweller, 14 Chestnut Street, housewife: Well, I don't know. There was so much discussion over the first one that to me it seems kind of useless to try it again. But then again, some people may have changed their minds. I personally think it's a waste of time. So many people in the Borough were against: I don't think that many have changed their minds.

Mrs. Meredith Langberg, 74 Wheatsheaf Lane, copywriter: Entirely in favor. I think this was a case of a very small minority of Borough residents contravening the wishes of the majority of Princetonians . . . and a second chance is something you don't often get. I think we have all seen what putting off important decisions can lead to: the transit strike in New York is a good example. Possibly, changes might have been painful temporarily but they would not have caused the disintegration of the system. They didn't come to grips with the problem for years. I think, on a much smaller scale, we are faced with the disintegration of our school system in Princeton unless we face up to and solve our problems.

Mrs. Wilbert Brooks, 188 John Street, housewife: No, I wouldn't. I was against merger before and I'm still against it.

Mrs. Maxine T. Archambault, Franklin Park, librarian for Management Planning, 192 Nassau Street: I think it might prove to be a very interesting idea for Princeton to try to see if there has been any change in the peoples' minds I'd be in favor of it. Education is so important. It's future of America, really.

Anthony Mattino, 246 Valley Rd., employee at Fifth Dimension, Route 206: Yes, I think it's a good idea because with both together I think we would have a better school system, and a more economical one, too.

Mrs. Michael Mahooey, 58 N. Stanworth Drive, housewife: Oh, yes, definitely! I think it is the only thing possible for a good school system. I really believe it is necessary and I will do all I can to help work for it.

Mrs. Fred English, 290 Prospect Avenue, housewife: Yes, I think I would. I really hope it will go through. I think it is for the best of the community to have a combined school system. I don't believe in this separation of Borough and Township.

Mrs. Katherine Glanopolos, 171 Linden Lane, waitress at the Annex Restaurant: I don't think so. Don't you think it would increase our taxes? I live in the Township and our taxes are going up every year. I can't see any reason why we need have a merger. I think we have plenty of schools at the present time.

Florry Rossi, Princeton Junction, Princeton High School junior: I'd say yes because Princeton High school is too crowded in the corridors and in the classroom, too. We need more space. Either add on or build another school.

Mrs. Laura Wooten, 14 witherspoon Lane, employee of New Jersey Neuro- Psychiatric Institute: Sure, I'm in favor. I think it benefits everyone to have school merger; it means a stronger and better system.

Mrs. Marleene W. Blum, Hibben Apartments, graduate student at Rutgers, English teacher at Douglass: Yes, definitely. I was very disappointed in the results of the last one. I live in the Township and I don't have any children but after studying the issue, I came to the conclusion that the best solution for both the Township and the Borough, as far as schools are concerned, would be merger.

Mrs. Theodore T. Taucheri, 66 Cedar Lane, housewife: Yes, I think it would be a lot more convenient for parents and children if there were a combined system. It's a nuisance for my children to have to walk as far as they do when they could go one block to Riverside. And it wouldn't split their friends.

ART
In Princeton

KUPFERMANN ON VIEW

At Gallery 100, Jacques Kupfermann has long been associated with Princeton as one of our finest artists whose work has been interesting to watch as it has changed and grown, as he has gone away and returned. His present one man show at Gallery 100 marks his first public appearance here since a 1959 exhibition at the Erstwhile Little Gallery.

Most of the work is new. In fact some of it is so new that the paint was dripping wet as one canvas was hung on the gallery wall. Those of us who remember with appreciation Jacques Kupfermann's Norwegian period of the brooding skies and heavy snowfalls, painted heavily in low key, will be surprised, and delighted too, with his latest landscapes which show him to be a colorist.

"Orchard", in pastel colors, scintillates with churning springtime essence. "Clearing" is more student in tone and has full play of color and light against a clear blue sky, and "Field" is an intriguing all-over, slightly out-of-focus closeup of weeds and flowers in fine, formal color.

"Griggstown Canal" goes more abstract in a riot of hot color. As Mrs Adams has so perfectly described his technique in these new landscapes, his brushwork is extremely free, but this is a kind of freedom that grows from practiced control."

One must not fail to mention the small canvas, "River," which, for us, is a bridge between the past and present work. Here there is the familiar low key, dark against light.

However, the technique is very light, the trees and their reflections are barely brushed in and the canvas is almost untouched in spots of water and sky. It has a haunting poignance which makes it a picture to hold in memory.

Portraits. The portraits are painted quite differently from the very new landscapes. Structurally, the bodies are fragile or limp and hardly painted and it would seem, they are not as important as the feeling which is indicated in a single gesture or in the eyes, which are remarkable. There is a dreamlike quality to his wistful "Susan" and a whole story in the eyes of "Jeanette."

For those who have not known the work of Jacques Kupfermann before, it may be of interest to learn something of his background. Born in Vienna in 1926, he came to the U.S.A. from Nazi Austria in 1940 and fought with the U.S. Army in Italy.

After the war, he studied with Kamyashi at the Art Student's League, in Paris at the Academie de la Grande Chaumiere and later at the State Academy in Oslo. He has shown in the Salon D'Automne, Paris, Art USA, the Newport Artists Association, the Columbus Museum in the Montclair Museum and the Hunterdon County Art Center he has received first prizes.

This is his 15th one-man show, the third in Princeton, and the others in various places from Tel Aviv, Israel to Kalamazoo, Mich. in Princeton show will be on view through February 6.

CREATIVE ILLUSTRATION

At McCarter Theatre. The Princeton Art Association's January show at McCarter Theatre is a cross section of today's illustration excellence. The examples have been exclusively executed for "Boys' Life Magazine" by well known illustrators including Norman Rockwell, Al Parker, Fletcher Martin and Jacob Landau, to name only a few.

There are well-made energetic drawings of athletes such as Bob Handville's "Tennis Player." There's a Pittsburg-on-the-Medal scene in Rockwell's familiar over-realistic style. Arthur Shilstone uses color and flamboyancy in an imaginative underwater diving rim.

There is humor differently expressed. Some illustrations are meticulously and expertly defined, others are merely suggested and a few are abstract. It's a variety, with a number of "Prize winners" which may or may not get your vote for "best in show."

NANCY KERN PAINTINGS

At The Present Day Club. Extended through January at the Present Day Club is a showing of paintings by Nancy Kern of Princeton. A graduate of Goucher College, Mrs. Kern went on to study Art at the Maryland Institute with Jacque Maroger, later at the Albright Art School where she took etching classes with Gene Vass and watercolor classes with Bob Blair.

At the Art Student's League she studied drawing with George Grosz and painting with Frank Mason. She has worked in woodcut techniques with Jacob Landau and again in painting with Hyde Solomon and has shown at the Thibault Gallery in New York.

At the Present Day Club, her work shows the influences of all her active concentration on these aforementioned techniques. She has tried different methods of expression.

The clearest impression seems to come in a group of paintings featuring cats. These are small canvases, well designed, semi-abstract and complete.

"Tree in Autumn" which is worked in splinters of color and with a consciousness of light effect is one of the most clear and freshest of the lot. The public is invited to view the paintings by appointment.

INSTRUCTORS' ART

At Trenton State Museum. An exhibition of work by instructors of New Jersey Colleges has been given a handsome presentation at the new Cultural Center in Trenton. The gallery is an artist's dream with perfect lighting and excellent arrangement, flexible of exhibit space.

The presentation is far more exciting than the work shown this time. The variety of painting, sculpture, graphics and ceramics naturally embraces Op, Pop, old Realism, New Realism, Collage, "Hard Edge," Abstract-Immressionism, etc which intends to describe "the ferment in style and theory of the last 15 years." Two exhibits which stood out in excellence were Robert Bradshaw's painting "Vielle Brivode" and John Charry's sculpture "Late Player."

CHILDREN IN NEW CLASS

Sketching, Water Color. Thirteen youngsters, boys and girls, are divining into the exciting world of line and color for the first time as they learn the fundamentals in sketching in the children's art class sponsored by the Princeton Art Association.

There is room for more, and if too many sign up for this class, the Art Association will start another. Mrs Rosemary Blair is the instructor. A substitute art teacher for both Township and Borough Schools, she has had wide experience as a teacher of the young.

She is teaching her young artists the fundamentals of sketching and will start them out soon on their first water-color work. They will begin with a limited palette of earth colors, progressing to a full water-color palette and professional artists' paint.

Students will learn to mix their own colors and to stretch their own paper. When weather permits, they will move outdoors to try landscapes and they may also try figure drawing as technique improves.

Information may be obtained from Mrs. Simon Marcson, 36 Marion Road, 921-9253.

How much may we lend you?
During an average lifetime most people borrow more money than they realize. That's why it is important to be known at a full service bank where you can borrow quickly and easily when you need money. And repayment can be fitted to your earnings. You borrow at low bank interest rates. The first step in establishing your credit is to make the Princeton Bank your headquarters for all you money matters. Then — when emergencies demand — you can walk right in and tell us how much we may lend you.

MIDWINTER FORUM SET

By Republican Women. U.S. Senator Clifford P. Case and Congressman Peter Frelinghuysen Jr. will address the 19th Midwinter Forum of the N. J. Federation of Republican Women on Monday, January 31, at the Princeton Inn.

The topic was chosen in response to numerous requests for behind-the-scenes election information. Coffee will be served prior to the start of the program at 10:30 a.m. Luncheon is scheduled for 12:30.

The Rev. Ralph C. Chandler, former parlimentarian of the New Jersey Legislature, will discuss "The Significance of Survival of the Two-party System" at the afternoon session. The Rev. Mr. Chandler is assistant minister of First Presbyterian Church and a lecturer in politics at Princeton University. He is the author of "The New Jersey Legislature," published in 1963.

Reservations may be made by mail to Mrs. Stanley C. Sawyer, 86 Olden Lane, by January 27. Luncheon is $3.50.

VASSAR CLUB TO MEET

On Tuesday. The annual luncheon of the Vassar Club of Central New Jersey will be held at 12:30 on Tuesday at the Princeton Inn. All alumnae are invited.

The agenda includes a report on the fall council meeting, announcement of the scholarship ball proceeds, and appointment of the chairman for next fall's dance.

TO PLAN PROJECTS

For Girl Scout Units. Girl Scout troop leaders, service teams and interested adults will meet at 9:30 a.m. on Tuesday at Calvary Baptist Church for a planning session. Mrs. Robert Wentover, chairman of the Girl Scout Neighborhood Association of Princeton, will preside.

Projects include the annual cookie sale, scheduled for January 29 to February 19, International Day and other events Child care will be provided.

CELEBRATION PLANNED

By YMCA. Princeton's YMCA will stage an eight-day program to celebrate National YMCA Week this year with events scheduled to begin this Saturday and run through the following Saturday.

The program will include activities for all ages and all members of the community. On the opening morning, gymnasium and squatic demonstrations by boys grades 3-6 are being planned.

Children may either watch these demonstrations or participate in games, relays and aquatic races. There will also be a ping-pong tournament and competition in chess and checkers. Older chess players may challenge Dr. George Proll who will play all-comers simultaneously.

Exhibitions will include judo, golf, weightlifting, trampoline, fencing, wrestling, tumbling and skin and scuba diving by YMCA instructors and members. A special Indian dance and Indian costume contest will be open to boys 6-9 years of age.

Door prizes, craft and hobby displays, and a family buffet, square-dance, movie and singing program are also being planned. Similar events, including an all-you-can-eat pancake breakfast on Saturday, January 29, will be held throughout the week.

Details may be obtained by calling the YMCA at 924-4825. John Lasley, chairman of the YMCA public relations committee, is in charge of the celebration with assistance from Herbert Hobler and Robert Sampson.

BOOK REVIEW SCHEDULED

At Public Library. The second book review session cosponsored by the Princeton Public Library and the Princeton Jewish Center will be held next Wednesday morning at the Jewish Center on 435 Nassau Street. Subject of the discussion will be "The Kennedy Legend."

Speaking will be Dr. Herbert Alexander, director of the Citizen's Research Foundation, and Dr. Richard Challener, professor of history and Dean of the College of Princeton University. Dr. Alexander will review "Kennedy" by Theodore Sorenson and Dr. Challener will discuss "A Thousand Days" by Arthur Schlesinger.

The public is invited to attend the reviews and participate in the discussion which follows. The reviews will begin at 10 with coffee being served beforehand.

month's meeting of Le Cercle Francais de Princeton will be held on Tuesday with Prof. Anthony E. Wahl the guest speaker. The meeting will begin at 8:30 p.m. in Wilcox Hall on Princeton University's campus.

Prof. Wahl will speak on the subject, "Les Premieres Elections Presidentielles Francaises Depuis 1848." An associate professor of politics at Princeton University, he has just returned from France where he studied the recent presidential elections.

ALUMNAE GROUPS UNITE

For Panel Discussion. The Seven College Conference Alumnae will present a panel discussion on the topic, "Needed Now—Talents, Time and Training," on Tuesday, February 8, at 8:15 at Community Park School. Dr. Warren G. Hill, president of Trenton State College, will moderate.

Participating on the panel will be Dr. Charles Kelley, a member of the New Jersey Office of Economic Opportunity and formerly with the State Department of Education; Dr. Gloria Fried, director of the reading program for the Trenton Board of Education, and Miss Deborah Sills, director of Project Headstart in Lawrence Township.

They will discuss the new opportunities for community service and ways of participating. The panel, open to the public, is the third annual presentation jointly sponsored by area alumnae of Barnard, Bryn Mawr, Mt. Holyoke, Radcliffe, Smith, Vassar and Wellesley Colleges.

TRUSTEES NOMINATED

For Princeton Hospital. Five trustees of Princeton Hospital Corporation have been selected by the nominating committee to run for re-election at the annual membership meeting on February 28.

Nominees are Mrs. Hans G. Bauer, Frederick P. Lawrence, Charles H. Magers, Richard G. Macgill and Richard W. Baker Jr. Mr. Magill is a vice-president of the board and Mr. Lawrence is assistant treasurer.

Petitions for additional nominations for the five vacancies on the board must be filed not later than February 12, according to George W. Conover, president. Nominations may be made by corporation members and must be supported by five members. A ballot will be mailed to the membership in the event that more than five names are proposed.

Nominating committee members included Dr. Robert S. Garber, Mrs. Bernard Kilgore, William R. Cosby, G. Alfred Cluett Jr. and James S. Hill, chairman.

Princeton Hospital is guided by a board of 17 trustees, 15 elected to serve three-year terms in classes of five annually, plus the mayors of Princeton Borough and Township.

MEETING ANNOUNCED

By Ladies Auxiliary. The ladies auxiliary of the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad will meet Monday at 8 p.m. at the First Aid Home on N. Harrison Street.

The meeting will include the induction of new officers of the auxiliary.

SPECIAL ELECTION SET

For Reapportionment. A special election will be held on March 1 to elect delegates to the Constitutional Convention for reapportionment of the State Legislature.

The Township Clerk's Office will be open this Thursday from 7-9 p.m. for the registration of voters for the special election. This will be the last day on which registration or change of registration may take place for the special election.

Requirements for registration include citizenship, a minimum age of 21, residency in Mercer County for 40 days in the state of New Jersey for six months on or before November 8.

CHAPTER IS FORMED

For Retired Persons. An area chapter of the national AARP (American Association for Retired Persons) is being formed in Princeton. The organization meeting for the group was held at the YWCA and Mrs. Marion M. Hutchinson was elected president pro tem.

PEOPLE In The News

Sarah Jaeger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Jaeger, Pheasant Hollow Farm, Princeton Avenue, Rocky Hill, has been named a national winner in the National Council of Teachers of English annual Achievement Awards competition. A senior at Princeton Day School, she is one of 837 of the 8500 students nominated throughout the country to win the recognition.

Stephen Janes, son of Dr. and Mrs. Roberts Janes, 268 Riverside Drive, has graduated from the Officer Candidate School, U. S. Navy, at Newport, R. I. A '61 graduate of Princeton High, he attended the University of Florida and completed his college work at Wagner College in New York where he majored in music.

After eight weeks of training at the Newport Communications School, Ensign Janes will report to Norfolk, Va. His wife and daughter will join him in Norfolk.

EXAM BREAK WELCOME

Tigers Need Tinkering, In other years, Princeton basketball teams with their sights set on the Ivy title have been concerned over possible loss of momentum during the annual fortnight's break for term-end examinations. This winter, the Tigers are hopeful that they will somehow lose the inertia and indecision that has marked their play in the first two weeks of the 1966 race.

Despite a 4-0 mark and a share with Columbia and Penn of first place, Princeton went into the brief period of hibernation with nothing going for it but defense. An average of 59 points allowed the opposition in its first 13 games has the Orange and Black among the top three or four nationally in this department.

The sticky guarding of which Princeton is capable is almost entirely responsible for its somewhat amazing 11-and-2 record—also, actually, one of the best in the nation. Best example of what such technique can achieve came Saturday night in Dillon Gym, when Harvard's bid for an upset fell short at the final buzzer.

Basketball logic dictated that the Crimson, in possession with better than a half minute to go, should at least get away one final shot. But 6-1 Keith Sedlacek killed too much of the clock, had to shoot from a set position from 30 feet out and 6-6 Ed Hummer and 6-6 John Haarlow combined to block it.

When Haarlow grabbed the rebound only the clock and 60 feet stood between him and victory. He had about two seconds in which to cut down some of the distance, arching his left-handed shot from just inside center court.

The ball hit dead center just behind the basket and bounced back dead center through the cords. The play-by-play account of the game, listing the winning two points at 19:59, hardly gave credit where it was due. The buzzer sounded while the ball was in flight — 20.01 would have been a more accurate reading.

How Do They Do It? In their non-too-impressive 74-52 victory over Dartmouth (now 2-0 on the season) and their two-point gasper over Harvard, which lost its tenth in 13 starts, the Tigers left their followers wondering how in the world they have managed to compile their current six-game victory streak. In the two contests last weekend, on its own court against last-place teams, Princeton:

- Went the first five minutes of the opening half against Dartmouth before it made a point.
- Allowed Harvard, over a stretch of more than six minutes during the second half, 17 straight points, watching the Crimson erase a 39-27 deficit and take a 41-35 lead.
- Made a scant 50% of its foul tries without any pressure from Dartmouth and a mere 46% against Harvard, missing a number against the Crimson which came close to costing all the marbles.
- Failed to put any player in double figures on successive nights. Typical performances included 25 for Hummer against Dartmouth, five against Harvard, 17 for Rodebaugh against Dartmouth, two against Harvard.

The Indians, whose best individual effort was eight, had only 15 points at the half but trailed by only nine. They stayed that close until midway through the second period, then faded more rapidly. Lacking a sharpshooter such as Sedlacek, they appear to be destined for another last-place finish.

Harvard, which was dropped five games by two points this season, barely missed beating Columbia at Cambridge in a 75-73 decision and may well upend the Tigers when they get there on February 5. Anything better than a 33% shooting average here would have won for the Crimson, which is certainly going to practice steadily on how to get off that last shot when time is running out.

Sophomore John Haarlow, one of the three top scorers on the Princeton team, hasn't got a starting berth because his 180 pounds on a 6-0 frame leave some question as to his ability to play 40 minutes of basketball. Coach Butch van Breda Kolff's thinking along these lines paid off to perfection Saturday: the rangy Tiger forward had scene action in both halves but was full of energy and clear of eye when the going was toughest.

In the final ten minutes, Princeton led only for the briefest moments at 42-41 and 44-43 before the visitors caught and passed them again. But it was a pair of jumpers by Haarlow that deadlocked the count at 48-all with four minutes to go and again at 50-all with 2:07 left.

The Crimson never got off another shot that even hit the backboard as the home team's defensive ability paid off in spades. Princeton's situation became almost desperate, however, when Gary Walters missed the first of two foul shots on a one-and-one situation with 42 seconds left. Harvard came down court, killed off more of the clock than it should have and Sedlacek's desperation shot boomeranged.

Meanwhile, a Cornell team that has four of last year's starters and good sophomore strength is all but out of the race in mid-January following an overtime loss (68-66) to Brown at Ithaca. It was the Red's second extra-period game in a week and in this one, at home, it could only make two points in the last five minutes.

Columbia and Penn continue to win handily at home, but the Quakers are alone in the impressive manner in which they triumph on the road. Worth watching this weekend will be their game in the Palestra with nationally-ranked St. Joseph's. If Penn does well in this one, it will rank as the odds-on favorite to dominate the Ivy League.

FIRST AGAINST BIG TEN

Swimmers Upset Ohio State. Scoring a victory so conclusive that the meet was decided before the final event was held, Princeton's well-balanced swimming team defeated Ohio State Saturday, 56 to 39. A capacity crowd of 800 reared its approval as the Tigers recorded their first triumph over a Big Ten opponent in three tries.

Princeton records were broken in the 200-yard butterfly, the 100-yard freestyle and the 400-yard free-style relay. Coach Bob Clotworthy was the last man in the pool — his jubilant Tiger squad rot him out on the three-meter diving board after the meet was over and tossed him into the water.

Although there was belief beforehand that the team winning the largest number of second and third places would be the victor, Princeton won largely on its ability to finish first in eight of the 11 events. It was, however, a second and third place finish in the 200-yard breaststroke that gave the Orange and Black the actual points it needed to triumph—48 or more — before the free-style relay ended the meet to a close.

Princeton not only took that, as well, but iced the cake by covering the 400 yards in 3:16.2. This was almost a full second better than the previous University record.

Captain Roger Kalmbach, who swam one of the legs on the record-breaking relay team, broke his own mark in the 200-yard butterfly with a 2:01.9 clocking. The other record set was a fine 49-second effort in the 100 by Bruce Brookens, a fifth of a second under his previous best time.

The victory was Princeton's fifth without a defeat. The Tigers' surge comes in a year when Yale's long dominance in the Eastern League has already been broken by Army. Whether the Tigers can handle either of these teams will be determined when the Elis come here on February 26 and Princeton goes to West Point the following Saturday.

SKATERS WIN, 5-4

In Overtime at Hanover. Three goals by sophomore John Ritchie were the big factor in the Princeton hockey team's 5-4 victory over Dartmouth Saturday. The last came at 1:40 of a sudden-death session on Hanover ice.

Steve Cook, skating on a line with Ritchie and Terry Peterman, got the Tigers off in front at 6:54 of the first period. The Green evened the count 12 minutes later and took a 2-1 lead early in the second round.

Ritchie's first two goals and one by Peterman deadlocked

Heroes of Yesteryear

Veteran basketball fans in Dillon Gymnasium Saturday night could recall only two other shots over a period of the last three or four decades that had won games for Princeton as time ran out.

One was a half-court set by George Lawry that brought Princeton from behind and defeated Syracuse, 56 to 55. The contest was played in Dillon Gyms first season, on January 17, 1948.

On January 18, 1957, Art Klein took an inbounds pass with his back to the basket, some 40 feet away, and one second left on the clock. His whirling over-the-head shot went through with out touching the rim to give Princeton a 61-59 overtime victory against Dartmouth.

the game at 4-all, as the home team also scored three times during the action-packed period. The final 20 minutes of regulation time were scoreless, Ritchie producing the winning goal after intercepting a pass near the Dartmouth cage early in the over-time round.

The victory was Princeton's first over the Indians in League play since 1963. The teams will meet again in Baker Rink on Saturday afternoon, January 29.

Earlier last week, the Tigers dropped their sixth tie a row when they lost to Colgate, 5-3. They were no worse than 1-1 at the end of 20 minutes, but fell behind, 4 to 1, in the second round and never could catch up. The split in two games prior to the exam break gave them a mark of 3-8 on the season.

SOME SMOKE . . .

Little Fire. The Ivy League crossed swords with the NCAA last week in Washington on the occasion of the latter's annual meeting but the disagreement that developed is not expected to have any immediate results.

The dispute was triggered by the NCAA's new regulation which will require all of its members to withhold scholarship aid from an athlete who is not earning grades of at least 1.6 — based on 4.0 as perfect. The equivalent is about C- or, in Princeton terminology, a low third group.

Favoring the NCAA stand is the known fact that a number of colleges in other parts of the country, particularly the Southwest, frequently lean toward the athletic rather than the academic in determining who shall hold scholarships.

But the Ivy League, which has told the NCAA where it can go on other occasions, isn't about to have an association that is fundamentally engaged in the administration of athletics, determine its policies in academic matters.

The NCAA regulation requires its members — among them the eight Ivies — to notify it by February 15 whether they will comply with the ruling. The Ancient Eight has replied that it has no intention of doing so and, accordingly, the NCAA must determine shortly thereafter whether it will rule the Ivy League ineligible for the post-season tournaments it conducts.

The first of these will be staged in March in basketball, hockey, swimming and fencing, and in recent years Princeton has entered teams or individuals in all of them but hockey. Cornell has its sights set on participation in the NCAA hockey tournament this year; Penn, Columbia and Princeton would like to represent the Ivy League in NCAA basketball (where the Tigers are regional defending champions); Yale invariably takes aim on several national swimming titles, and so on.

The Ivy League has said that if the NCAA wars it from competition, it may withdraw from NCAA membership. Ken Fairman, Princeton's Director of Athletics, does not feel at present, however, that such a development is likely.

In the past, when the NCAA has sought to bar college athletes from competing in track meets sponsored by the AAU in their continuing dispute over who shall be the dominant track power in the U.S., the Ivy League has ignored such directives. This growing thorn, planted by the NCAA several years ago, is considered a threat to this country's long-standing supremacy in track in the Olympic Games, and has reached the stage where some form of federal mediation has been sought.

THE BIG ONE IS HERE . . .

PHS vs. Hamilton Friday. What's wrong with the Princeton High School basketball team? Friday's 81 to 55 loss to Lawrenceville was the third lopsided defeat in a row suffered by the faltering Little Tigers.

Clearly, the early-season momentum generated when the team won its first three and then the Asbury Park holiday tournament has evaporated. Either the calibre of the opposition has improved markedly or the team's early suggested excellence has deteriorated. The answer seems to be that both are true.

The three teams responsible for the hatchet job on PHS are pre-eminent in this area. Notre Dame (9-1) is ranked second in the mythical Mercer County standings and Steinert (4-3) third. Unbeaten Lawrenceville (5-0), the Blue and White's most recent victim, is reportedly ranked fourth in the state among prep schools.

On the other hand, Princeton, in part, has been the author of its own downfall. Its shooting has fallen off steadily. Against Lawrenceville, it connected on 23 of 62 attempts from the floor, and a 37 percent effort will win few games today.

Another weak link has been its rebounding. When 5-10 Wilbur Hines can outrebound the team's two tallest players — 6-4 Tommy Wood and 6-3 Ken Lyons — as he did in the 105-55 Steinert debacle, something is amiss.

Adding a note of urgency to the quick halting of the Little Tigers' regression is that they must be above the .500 mark at the end of January if they hope to participate in the post-season Group 4 NJSAA tournament for the third straight year. Three in a row would be a considerable achievement for coach Tony Borzok. And as PHS illustrated last year in winning two tournament games, anything can happen in NJSIAA play.

Between the hope and the reality of winning enough to see post-season play is the hard-nosed fact that all four upcoming contests fall easily into the "very tough" category. Toughest of all will be Princeton's next opponent, Hamilton.

Year of the Hornet. In China, this is the year of the horse; here, it is the year of the Hornet. Coach Charlie Ross' Hamilton Hornets have virtually spread-eagled the opposition in Mercer County.

Currently, Hamilton is ranked No. 1 in this area. In its most recent outing, it outlasted a stubborn Steinert five, 62-59. A week ago it won the annual March of Dimes tourney in Trenton, defeating Notre Dame, Cathedral and Ewing along the way.

If the Little Tigers were to reverse all reason and upset the Hornets—the game will be played in the small Hamilton gym, starting at 8, the 800-capacity gym known more accurately as "the Hornets Nest" —all would be forgiven. That it is unlikely that PHS will depart from the script can be traced to the Smith brothers, not Trade and Mark but La Fronza and Chuck.

In a sense, the two are the triple men off the Hamilton offense on which Hamilton owns the patent. They are the head and butter of the Hamilton offense and its control of the boards. LaFronza is a 6-4 senior; Chuck is younger and taller at 6-5. Both are accurate shooters and between them they have made Hamilton one of the smoothest and most potent quintets in the state.

Barring a complete breakdown in form by the Hornets, it would appear that PHS must look elsewhere for one of those two victories. It may come Tuesday evening at 8 when PHS visits Madison Township. Whereas Hamilton probably represents the strongest of Princeton's next five opponents, Madison must be rated as considerably weaker.

Over at the Start. The Lawrenceville game was over as soon as it had begun for visiting Princeton. Before the contest was more than a few minutes old, the Larries had put together strings of seven and six points to jump to a 13-2 lead. Thereafter it was catch-up for PHS and it never did.

PHS did catch fire in the second period when it matched Lawrenceville point for point, each scoring 22. However, the comeback fizzled in the third eight minutes of play when the home team outscored PHS, 23-9. The defeat dropped the losers to within one game of the .500 mark with a 5-4 record.

Once again, Wilbur Hines, Princeton scoring ace, found the going sticky. Wilbur, who owned a 24.5 average in the first seven games, is paying the price of fame. Steinert a week ago and now Lawrenceville double teamed and triple teamed Hines whenever he got the ball. As one observer put it, "Every time Hines would try to go with the ball, two and three men would sit on him."

The "stop Hines" tactics worked. He was held scoreless in the first period and finished with a sub par 17. Ken Lyons, who made Princeton's first six points, finished with 13. The tall Tommy Wood continues to disappoint by not living up to his potential, especially under the boards where Princeton is losing out. He ended with 12. No other Little Tiger scored more than four.

With Hines boxed out, PHS was unable to capitalize on the overload and work the ball into someone else. When it did shoot, it lost out to the rebounding of Lawrenceville's 6-5 Ernie Hardy and 6-3 John Ballentine. These two not only taunted the losers under the boards but combined to score 41 points as well.

HUN WINS FAIR

To Take League Lead. There was more up and down motion in the Penn-Jersey League last week than on a discotheque dance floor. When the firing finally ceased Saturday night, Hun was on top with a 3-1 mark.

Tied with Hun in the important loss column were Bryn Athyn (2-1) and Perkiomen, 1-1). Pennington, in first place last week with a 3-0 mark, giving every indication of making a runaway of the league race, was shocked Saturday by winless Solebury, 68-49, and bumped earlier by Moorestown. To date, every school in the seven-team league has won at least one and lost at least one.

Hun climbed to the top on the strength of a 57-52 victory over Moorestown Friends Friday and a 74-52 triumph over Solebury last Wednesday. "The boys played very well in both games," said Hun coach Dave Leete.

"We used the press the whole game both times, continued Leete. "It caused them to get very excited and make a lot of mistakes. I think we forced Solebury to throw the ball away at least 25 to 30 times."

"One thing, I've got the boys in shape and can use the press," explained Leete. "If you're not, you run out of gas."

Friday's contest with Moorestown was close throughout. The Quakers drew within one point in the closing minutes but Hun came back with a foul and a basket and "took off by four."

For Hun, co-captain Mike Miller was outstanding. The 6-1 Trenton forward scored 26 points despite sitting out the entire second quarter because of foul trouble. "That was quite an accomplishment," said Leete.

Miller was aided by the 10 points of Mark Short of Lawrenceville, singled out by Leete as one "who has developed considerably in the past two weeks." Co-captain Scott Anderson and Jim MacLeod added eight and seven points.

Solebury Soft Touch. More one-sided was the Solebury tilt. Hun led, 41 to 25, at the half and then outscored the Spartans three-to-one in the third period to win easily.

Miller collected 21 points. In four starts he has averaged 28 per game. Anderson netted 12 and Short and MacLeod garnered eight each. In all nine Hun players figured in the scoring which prompted Leete to remark that no longer is one person doing all the scoring.

ing. "Now we have five," he said.

Hun will oppose Delharton at the Theological Seminary gymnasium Saturday at 2 in a non-league battle and Perkiomen away on Wednesday.

Leete said he considered Perkiomen the team to beat in the League. The Pennsylvania school crushed George School, 102 to 74, recently. "To do that in 32 minutes required some pretty fancy shooting on Perkiomen's part," commented Leete.

PHS NIPS SOMERVILLE

In Comeback, 65-61. In its previous start against Lawrenceville, the Princeton High School basketball team fell behind 13-2 at the start and never was able to come back. Tuesday afternoon against visiting Somerville, the Little Tigers were behind 14-2 but this time the outcome was different: with the aid of a press the home team overcame a six-point deficit in the final five minutes to win, 65 to 61.

The victory was Princeton's sixth in 10 starts. More important, it means that coach Tony Borzok's squad must now win but one of its next four to be included in the NJSAA Group 4 post-season playoffs.

At the halfway mark, a scoring pattern has emerged among the Little Tigers. Last season, Wilbur Hines, Colin Leitch and Pete Heiberger were the "big three" accounting for over 60 percent of the team's scoring. This winter the big three is Hines, Tom Wood and Ken Lyons.

Again these three were the only Blue and White players to reach double figures. Hines ended with 19, Wood, 15, and Lyons, 13. Richi Volz enjoyed his best game of the season, scoring nine points.

High man for both sides was the Pioneers' Wayne Leslie, who collected 24, including a 14-for-15 performance from the free throw line. One of the top offensive stars in the state, Leslie carried a 30-point average into the contest.

As the early score indicates, PHS was guilty of some loose play in the first quarter. At the end of the first eight minutes it trailed 17-8. By the end of the three-quarter mark it had whittled Somerville's advantage to 49-47. Then in the last period, it used a full-court press with telling effectiveness.

POSITIONS UNCHANGED

In YMCA Industrial League. The rich got richer last week in the YMCA Research and Industrial basketball league as the top three teams all won. Undefeated Educational Testing Service defeated Van Nostrand, 54-37; Film Center toppled Hospital, 73-52; and Western Electric stopped winless RCA, 82-51.

Paul Harmon was high scorer for ETS with 27 points. Offensive leader for the losers was David Gallaker with 15.

Tony Boccanfuso continues to pace runner-up Film Center as he hit for 27 points the second week in a row. His performance offset the fine effort of Hospital's big gun, Wallace Whitsett, who had 21. Film Center grabbed an early lead and led throughout.

Led by Jim Clark's 21 points, RCA had a halftime lead over Western Electric but failed to hold it and hopes of winning that first one will have to wait another week. Villain in the plot as far as RCA was concerned was Carl Harris who nipped Clark by one point for high scoring honors.

The standings:

	W.	L.	Pct.
ETS	7	0	1.000
Film Center	6	1	.857
Western Elec.	6	1	.571
Hospital	2	5	.286
Van Nostrand	2	5	.286
Hospital	0	7	.000

DAY SCHOOL SPLITS

In Basketball, Back-to-back games with Pennington Prep were divided by the Princeton Day School's basketball team. PDS winning the first, 66-32, and losing the second, 49-48. Its record is now 2-1.

In the first contest, the Blue and White rallied from a first-half deficit behind the play of Bill Rigot and Craig Page, who scored 18 and 15 points, respectively. Good defensive work was contributed by Jon Vereen, who also shot 100% from the foul line.

In the second game, the Maguire, 11 points, Harry Norton, eight, and Tomlinson, five, accounted for all the scoring for St. Paul's. More than 150 St. Paul partisans journeyed to Trenton to see the game.

In other contests earlier in the week, St. Paul's topped West Windsor, 56 to 43. Maguire hitting for 36, and Pennington Grammar School, 66 to 44. High scorers in the latter game were Maguire with 29, Tomlinson, 14, and Bob Sweeney, 11.

BOWLING NOTES

Princeton Def Advances. Princeton Def broke its tie with Key Shop for first place in the B League at the Princeton Recreation Center last week. It is alone now on top with 66 wins, while Key Shop dropped into a second-place tie with Maul Electric, each having 60 wins. Balestrieri Construction is third at 58.

Again this week there was an avalanche of 200 games — 23 in all. Highest was Jack Crawford's 223. Bill Cavanaugh rolled 180-212-224, 616 series and Bob Seulerati also

Women's Squash to Begin

The annual State Women's Squash Racquets Association tournament will begin this Thursday morning at the Pretty Brook Club. Play will continue for three days, with the consolation finals Saturday at 11:30 and the championship match at noon.

Mrs. W. Pepper Constable is the defending champion. Mrs. C. Fink Fischer, president of the Princeton Women's Squash Racquets Association and Mrs. M. John O'Donoghue are tournament co-chairmen. Mrs. Sanders Maxwell will serve as the referee.

A luncheon will be held Thursday for all participants at the home of Mrs. Hallett Johnson Jr. Mrs. Howard A. Fox is in charge of arrangements.

Day School lost an early lead that once was as high as ten points, Pennington eventually taking a one-point advantage with 23 seconds left and then running out the clock. Rigot was high for the losers with 15, while Ricky Ross pulled down 17 rebounds.

ST. PAUL'S WINS THREE

But Loses to Valley Road. In four games last week, the St. Paul's School basketball team won three to push its won-lost record to 16-3.

On Monday, a somewhat tired St. Paul's team was beaten by Valley Road, 53 to 49. A 20-8 third-quarter performance by Valley Road was the decisive turn in the contest.

Butch van Breda Kolff, son of Princeton University coach, Bill van Breda Kolff, grabbed scoring honors with 20 points. For St. Paul's, Mike Tomlinson was high with 13. Mike Maguire, St. Paul's usual scoring ace, fouled out at the start of the fourth quarter, marking the first time he has had to leave a game. He and Mickey Chapuk finished with 11 each.

In a key contest played Sunday, St. Paul's battled with St. Peter's, tied for first place in the northern division. The defense-stressed game was not decided until the final seconds, St. Paul's squeezed out a 24-23 victory.

MUSIC In Princeton

SEGOVIA BACK

Bach, Purcell, Albeniz, Andres Segovia's warm reception in Princeton last year and the year before, will probably be repeated when he makes his third consecutive Princeton appearance next Tuesday at McCarter.

The classic guitarist will play Five Little Pieces by Purcell; a Sarabande and Bouree of Bach; "Theme Varie," by Sor; a Study by Tarrega; Aria con variazioni and Allegretto by Handel; a Gigue by Weiss, "Melodie" and "Petite Valse" by Grieg, Prelude in E minor by Villa-Lobos; an Improvisation of Pedrell; Allegro Castellano by Turroba; "Danza Gallacia" by Mompou and the "Sevilla" of Albeniz.

RADIO PROGRAMS SET

For Chamber Orchestra, The Princeton Chamber Orchestra will inaugurate the Delaware Valley Concert Hall series on Philadelphia's station WFLN Saturday, January 29, from 7:30 to 9:30 The station is 95.7 FM. 900 AM.

The program to be heard at this inaugural concert is the orchestra's opening concert of the current season, and includes Vivaldi's Concerto Grosso in A minor for Two Violins, Op. 3 No. 8 Schoenberg's Verklarte Nacht, Op. 4; Haydn's Symphony No. 46 in B Major and the Shostakovich Concerto No. 1 for Piano, Strings and Trumpet.

Music-lovers will recall that the soloists are Helen Kwalwaster and Gabriel Banat, violins; Eugene List piano and Robert Nagel, trumpet.

The Princeton Chamber Orchestra's two remaining 1966 concerts, to be given in McCarter on March 30 and April 28, will also be recorded and broadcast on the series.

HUN TO HAVE CONCERT

Of Piano Music. The Hun School will hold the second in its current series of concerts on Sunday, January 23, in the John Andrew Saks Auditorium of the Edgerstoune campus. Richard Chronister, director of the New School for Music Study and David Krashenbuehl, the composer-in-residence at the school, will present a recital of music for piano four hands.

The program will begin at 8:30 and will include Mozart's Sonata in C. Major; K. 521, Rogers Six Waltzes, Op. 22 and Townsend's Four Fantasies in American Folk Songs. There will be no charge to the public but admission is by reservation only. Information may be obtained by calling 921-7000 before Friday, January 21.

gained the 601 level on games of 200-207-194. Other high single games: Claude Pinelli, 215; John Fugill, Bill Parke, and Larry Golden, all 211; and Joe Baldino, 210.

Helen Tamasi had games of 201 and 191 in the Business Women's League and Marilyn Silvester a 199-182 effort. Sara Rose and Diane Fowler each rolled a 194.

There was no change in the standings between the top two teams, with Maul Electric maintaining its two-game edge over Nassau Conover, 64 wins to 62. Tween Age, in a tie for third place with Claridge Liquor last week, now enjoys a two game edge over the latter.

256 for Ed Duncan. A 256 fashioned by Ed Duncan Sr. in the Nassau League was the highest single game rolled last week at the Recreation Center. Ed Duncan Jr. maintained the family tradition by rolling a 209.

A top series of 610 was recorded by Alberto Petrella. His games were 211-198-201. Sal DeMeglio had a 222 and Flavio Ruono a 209.

The six teams tied for first place last week have been reduced to three — First Aid, Princeton Elks and Grover Lumber. In second place, two games back with eight wins is Tiger Garage Brophy and Italian American Sportsmen's Club are tied for third.

Only a subpar 169 first game prevented Jack Lucey from obtaining a possible 700 series in the Three-Man Classic League. As it was, Jack finished with a 636 on games of 169-244-223. Jerry Perpetua worked the pins over for a 185-222-212, 629 series and Bill Dumble was only slightly less effective, turning in a 211-191-219, 621 series. Bill Flock had a 613.

Johnson Electric preserved its hold on first place by the slenderest of margins over Decker's Dairy, 36 to 35½. Turney Motors is six games back at 29½.

Kingston moved into a three-way tie for first in the Tri-County Firemen's League. It joined Mercer No. 3 and Princeton No. 1, which had it to themselves last week. Hook & Ladder is second and Rocky Hill, Princeton Junction and Hightstown are bunched for third place with six wins each.

Frank Stofko claimed high single game honors with a 222 and Bip Davison the high series, 192-201-210 — 603. Additional high games were those of Bud Reading, 219; Norm Luck, 211; Jack Petrone, 191; 205; Walt Coan, 205; and Wes Holman, 204.

ELECT REV. NEWBERRY

As Pastors' Head. The Rev Charles F Newberry of All Saints' Chapel has been elected president of the Princetou Pastors' Association for the coming year. He succeeds the Rev. Albert Tyson Jr. of Mt. Pisgah A.M.E. Church.

Also to serve during the coming year are the Rev. Luther H. Krisfeld of Messiah Lutheran Church, vice-president, and the Rev. Harold Thomas of Witherspoon Street Presbyterian Church, secretary-treasurer.

INSTALL ALTAR CUSHION

By Trinity Needlewomen. A 46 ft. altar rail cushion, worked in ivory and gold needlepoint, was dedicated Wednesday at All Saint's Chapel in a special service conducted by the Rev. Charles G. Newbery.

Representing five years of planning, designing and execution, the cushion embodies the work of twelve women, who contributed their time and skill and purchased their own supplies, except for the canvas, which was donated by the Princeton Knitting Shop on Tulane Street.

Mrs. Sanders Maxwell, working with the Rev. Mr. Newbery, devoted six months to the design of the 34 liturgical symbols in the cushion. The symbols, which draw upon both Old and New Testament references, reflect the central theme of "The Spirit of Christ in Church."

Needleworkers include Mrs. Sidney Stevens, who did a complete 10-ft. section herself; Mrs. Frederick Bleicher, Mrs. Daniel Dickey, Mrs. Thomas Eglin, Mrs. Harrison Fraker, Miss Donna Maxwell, Mrs Wardlaw Miles, Mrs. L. Hunt Myers, Mrs. Robert Porter, Miss Braxton Preston and Mrs. Henry Tomlinson.

In what is perhaps a unique departure from custom, the 40-ft. length is divided into six sections, achieving an unbroken expanse of 10 feet in the two central pieces.

In what is perhaps a unique departure from custom, the 40-ft length is divided into only six sections, achieving an unbroken expanse of 10 feet in the two central pieces.

"I suspect my figures are open to challenge," the Rev Mr Newbery commented. "But my best calculation indicates that well over half a million

YOUTH SUNDAY SET

At First Church. Young people will have complete charge of the 9:30 and 11 a.m. services this Sunday at First Presbyterian Church. Representatives of the youth groups and Scouting will be greeters, ushers and worship leaders.

Sermonettes will be given by two members of the senior class at Princeton High School. Arthur Buckland will discuss "The Route We Travel," and Diane Lyness will speak on "Equipment For Our Trip."

The topic for the youth fellowship meeting at 7 is "Should We Be Involved in Vietnam?" The Rev. Ralph C. Chandler will be discussion leader. Supper will be served at 6:15 p.m.

TO HEAR DR. WYCKOFF

At Lawrenceville Church. The Rev. Dr. Campbell Wyckoff will be the guest speaker at the annual congregational meeting of Lawrenceville Presbyterian Church, scheduled for 7 p.m. this Sunday in the youth center. Dr. Wyckoff is an elder of the church and professor of Christian education at Princeton Seminary. His topic is "What a Presbyterian Believes."

On the agenda for the business meeting are elections of new officers — deacons, members of the session and trustees, and annual reports. Dessert and coffee will be served.

MISSIONARIES TO SPEAK

In Area Churches. Dr. Homer L. Tucker, director of urban work for the New Jersey Baptist Convention, will address the three Baptist churches of Princeton this Sunday at Princeton Baptist Church. The session begins at 5:30 p.m.

At Princeton Methodist Church, an Indian pastor, the Rev. Emmanuel James, will speak at the 5:30 p.m. mission supper on Sunday. At 11 a.m. worship, the Rev. Dr. Leon W. Gibson, pastor, will discuss "The Problems of Growth."

Pennington. Members of Pennington, Hopewell and Titusville Methodist Churches, who are holding a cooperative "School For Living" on missions this year, will have a second session from 4 30 to 7:30 p.m. on Sunday, at Pennington Methodist. The speaker will be the Rev. Dr. J. Harry Haines who has been both a missionary and an international Christian relief administrator.

St. Paul's Tops Goal

Members of St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church have pledged $230,200 towards the Trenton diocese's 16½ million campaign, exceeding the parish goal of $162,000 by $68,200.

The parish ranks fourth among the 71 parishes and missions that over-subscribed their goals. Corpus Christi, South River, raised $236,420; St. Catherine's, Spring Lake, $233,370, and Our Lady of Sorrows, Mercerville, $233,790.

A total of nearly $14 million was pledged to the campaign as of last Friday. Funds will go to a vast rebuilding program for the diocese, second largest Roman Catholic diocese in the nation.

ELECTIONS HELD

At Witherspoon Church. Officers were elected for the coming year at the annual congregational meeting on Sunday at Witherspoon Street Presbyterian Church.

Re-elected to the session were Mrs. Squire Newsome, T. Morgan Harris and Mrs. Clarence Potter. Leonard Newton and John Counts were elected to fill the vacancies left by George Field and Harry Cooper.

Re-elected to the Board of deacons were Mrs. Charles Sperling, Leo Powell and Mrs. Evelyn Craig. Mrs. Herbert Williams was named to replace Mrs. James Floyd.

Members of the nominating committee are Gladys Taylor, Mrs. T. Morgan Harris and Dale LeCount, from the congregation; Howard B. Waxwood Jr. and Robert Nelson, session members, and Mrs. Charles Sperling of the board of deacons.

BULLETIN NOTES

Church Supper. A chicken and ham dinner will be held at the Morning Star Church of God in Christ, 43 Birch Avenue, this Saturday, beginning at noon. Sister Odell Lee is in charge of arrangements. Donation is $1.50. Arrangements for dinners to be taken out may be made by calling 924-5478.

Teen Dance. The Deuces Wild will play at a dance for high school young people from 8 to 11 on Friday, January 28, at the Unitarian Church, Cherry Hill Road and Route 206. Admission is 75 cents stag; $1.25 drag.

Help Wanted. A mildly brain-damaged child 20 months old is moving into the area near Princeton Airport on January 27. Volunteers are needed (five minutes per week) to help "pattern" the child. Inquiries are directed to Mrs. A. S. Wilson Jr., Princeton-Lawrenceville Road (924-5762).

Training Classes. The yearly nursery training program for girls of high school and junior high school age begins on Saturday,, February 5, at First Prebyterian Church. The cooperative program involves girls from St. Andrew's and Witherspoon Street Presbyterian Churches as well. Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Sanford Dietrich, 924-3072.

In The Pulpit. The Rev. Jacob Trapp of the Unitarian Church of Summitt, will preach at 11 this Sunday at the Princeton Unitarian Church on the topic, "Holy Reverance or Plowing on Sunday." The Rev. Mr. Trapp is editor of the devotional page in the Unitarian Universalist Register-Leader.

The Rev. Rowland Cox, chaplain on the Proctor Foundation at Princeton University, will preach at 11 this Sunday in the University Chapel.

"Elements of Renewal" will be discussed by Rabbi Everett Gendler at the 8:15 p.m. Shabbat service this Friday at the Princeton Jewish Center. Hostesses will be Mrs. Norman Aaronson, Mrs. Martin Eshkov and Mrs. Bernard Fishbein.

Elder Wade Stephens will speak on the Capital Fund for Freedom, a Presbyterian General Assembly cause, during the 11 a.m. service on Sunday at Lawrenceville Presbyterian Church. The Fund is conducted annually to benefit racial minority groups in the United States. The Rev. H. Dana Fearon, pastor, will give the sermon, "When God Hides His Face."

Day Apart. The Woman's Society of Christian Service of Princeton Methodist Church will observe the Annual Day Apart on Friday, January 28, at St. Paul's Methodist Church, Ocean Grove. Sessions begin at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. with a box lunch at noon. Transportation will be arranged. Interested women are asked to call Mrs. Leon Gibson (924-1290) or Mrs. Jon Baumunk (466-3289).

New Class. An adult discussion group at Lawrenceville Presbyterian Church is meeting on Mondays at 8 p.m. in the pastor's study. The group is reading "The Man of Faith in The New Age" by Richard R. Broholm. The Rev. H. Dana Fearon is leader.

10 reasons why you should buy a home in Wynnewood at Cranbury:

- Wynnewood at Cranbury is a custom-crafted community of thirty lovely homes, set against a backdrop of fine old trees.
- Cranbury is one of New Jersey's few remaining "small-town" towns . . . a real village atmosphere!
- Cranbury is 6 miles from Princeton, 50 minutes from mid-town Manhattan.
- All lots are a MINIMUM of one full acre.
- Fine school system —including all-new Regional High School.
- Elegance of design is overwhelming!
- Solidity of construction is paramount!
- Every home has the most modern of kitchens with the new Caloric "75" double-oven range and dishwater included.
- All utilities; curbs, walks, etc. are in and paid for!
- Gracious covered portico and full 2-car garages.

There are really hundreds of reasons why you should own a Wynnewood at Cranbury home! See for yourself.

Beauty ON THE SQUARE

Healthy hair almost always has a glossy appearance, and the extent to which the sheen is present or absent is one of our best guides in determining hair condition and the kind of treatment it will require in permanent waving.

A lack of gloss in the hair is a siginal to the cosmetologist because it indicates either of two conditions, both of which have a direct bearing on the waving procedure:

(1) a dull appearance of the hair may mean that it is coated with some subtance; for example; lacquer or spray net coated on the hair that should be removed before a permanent is given.

(2) Lack of sheen may denote a roughened and highly porous condition of the hair surface, indicating the need for reconditioning treatments and a mild processing in permanent waving.

For the best permanent waves you can have, try TAVERNWOOD BEAUTY MANOR, 69 Palmer Square West, or call 924- 3983.

NEW COLONIAL . . . in a choice neighboring community, less than 10 minutes from the Shopping Center, here is an excellent country home. Living room with fireplace, separate dining room, paneled family room, center hall, beautiful kitchen with electric dishwasher and wall oven, 4 bedrooms, 2 baths and powder room. Being so close to Princeton, this fine home, at the asking price, qualifies as one of our Best Buys. $31,900

PRINCETON AREA . . . only 7 minutes from the Shopping Center, on a country road off the main highway, this large Colonial home has 5 bedrooms, 2 baths and powder room, paneled family room, living room with fireplace, center hall, separate dining room, big kitchen with electric dishwasher and wall oven, 2-car garage and an acre of land. $33,500

NEW BOROUGH HOME . . . close to schools, and in a wooded area, the white clapboard Colonial has brand new wall-to-wall carpeting and lovely plain white draw draperies. Foyer, large living room with fireplace, separate dining room, big kitchen with paneled family room, two steps down, 4 bedrooms, 2 baths and powder room. This lovely home, just moved into, is available only because the owner has decided to live closer to his new factory. $51,000

ONE-STORY . . . and a beautiful residence for a couple wishing to enjoy their retirement in Princeton. Secluded on its own acre of woods. There is a flag-stoned terrace as long as the house, swimming pool with heated and filtered water, central air-conditioning. Indoors, a charming foyer, large living room with fireplace, a kitchen lined with spacious cabinets, big family room, study (or extra bedroom) guest room and bath, master bedroom and bath. Every detail done in excellent taste, too, for this home was designed for people accustomed to luxury. (Sole Agent) $69,500

FINE DESIGN . . . living room, dining room, library and kitchen are in the main wing. Off the foyer, there is a closet-lined hall leading to 3 bedrooms, 2 baths. The remarkably well-designed kitchen is the pride and joy of its owner — and will be yours, too. Located on two beautiful acres in Princeton's western section, and sheltered by one of the most magnificent old white oaks still standing in our village. This fine one-story dwelling is only three minutes from the center of town and within walking distance to Johnson Park School. (Sole Agent) $67,500

MANOR HOUSE . . . on 33 acres in real farming country, yet only 12 minutes from Princeton, this 6 bedroom, 4 bath residence is considered by many to be one of the outstanding restorations among all the fine Colonial farm houses in this area. In addition, there is a vast swimming pool annex, 60 feet in diameter, where your children (and your guests) can play Winter and Summer, day or night, as if they lived in Hawaii. (Sole Agent) $159,500

Many fine homes in Princeton and vicinity in every price range.
